

Professors Now Are Few; Quiet in Roosevelt's Administration

WASHINGTON—One particular class of Roosevelt advisers has been as silent as the tomb recently. They have not peeped. Their names have been strangely absent from the headlines. Few of them have been within a stone's throw of the White House.

Which arouses the legitimate question: What's become of the professors?

There was a day when the White House door squeaked constantly with the comings and goings of the professors. There was a day when they gathered round Roosevelt in constant and intimate huddles. There was a day when the professional hand was seen in every important move he made.

That day is now gone. Quietly and without any blare of trumpets Roosevelt has shifted the professors into the background. Many of them are still functioning—and effectively. But they have learned to lie low.

Roll Call

Let's call the roll—see what has become of the scholarly gentlemen who once frequented the White House.

Professor Rexford G. Tugwell—(Columbia), most ornate and publicized scholar of them all, is now in Europe attending the International Agricultural Conference. This conference has been held many times before, but never before has it been considered important enough for the second highest man in the Department of Agriculture to attend.

Even if it were, it would not justify his spending six weeks of waiting in Europe for the Conference to open.

Professor Tugwell, of course, was shunted out of the political picture because he was not a political asset. He is not through, but his political effectiveness is lessened. And one thing which lessened it was his pose as a stalwart conservative before Ed. Smith's Senate Agricultural Committee.

Tugwell will come back, will do good work in the Department of Agriculture. But he will stay in the background.

Professor A. A. Berle—(Columbia), intellectual prodigy who graduated from Harvard at the age of 17, has faded out of the picture almost completely. There was a time when he wrote some of Roosevelt's best speeches, pushed some of his best policies. But now Berle is too busy being City Chamberlain for Mayor LeGuardia in New York. He is seldom seen around the White House.

Professor George F. Warren, who sold Roosevelt gold devaluation and the rubber dollar, has gone back to Cornell and the teaching of farm management.

He has been slightly critical of the Administration, is not in high favor at the White House. But not long ago, after repeated requests for an interview with the President, he had lunch with him. It was the most expeditious way to dispose of Dr. Warren.

Exit Rogers

Professor James Harvey Rogers, twin monetary adviser with Warren, has gone back to Yale. He did not even get a chance to see the President.

The manner of Rogers' passing is significant and not generally known. Until he went to China to study silver, Rogers refused to accept Government salary, felt he could be more effective if he remained independent. In China, of course he got salary and expenses, but when he returned he asked to be taken off the Government payroll.

So one day Rogers got a letter from his monetary boss, young Henry Morgenthau. In substance it read: "I regret so much that you cannot join the staff of the Treasury Department. Will you be good enough to finish your report (on China) within a month and please regard all the information contained therein as confidential."

Enclosed with this letter was another, also on Treasury Department stationery and signed by

PETITION FOR SCIOTO RIVER WORK READY

Local Names Forwarded
to Jordan Today; Added
to 3,000 Others

TO FILE TUESDAY

Judges to Meet Dec. 3 Under
Jordan Plan

Petitions bearing names of many Circleville and Pickaway-co community leaders were mailed special delivery to Columbus this afternoon to be added to 3,000 other names urging the formation of a Scioto-Sandusky water conservancy district similar to the gigantic Muskingum valley project.

The petitions will be filed in Franklin-co common pleas court next Tuesday by Alan Jordan executive secretary of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control congress, who has appeared here several times in the interests of the project.

SMITH, HAYS ACTIVE

Several prominent men including J. I. Smith, canner, and Hulse Hays, postmaster, have been active in circulation of the petitions in Pickaway-co.

The petitions now in Mr. Jordan's hands include names of more than 3,000 signers in the 17 central and southcentral Ohio counties comprising the district. Additional names will be presented at the meeting next Tuesday. Only 500 signatures were needed.

Future plans for the development of the conservancy will be discussed after an election of officers at Tuesday's meeting. Mr. Jordan has tentatively set Dec. 3 for a hearing before the conservancy court of 17 judges, representing each county.

TO DETERMINE GRANT

The jurists, who include Judge J. W. Adkins, of Pickaway-co, will determine if the district shall ask a Public Works administration grant for the project.

MOB SNATCHES GIRL'S KILLER

20-Year-Old Alabaman To Be
Hung Angered Crowd Cries
In Storming Jail.

BREWTON, Ala., Oct. 26.—A mob shouting for his life today stormed the jail here, dragged Claude Neal, 20-year-old negro charged with assaulting and murdering a white girl, from the protection of his cell, and carried him away.

"We're going to take him back to Jackson-co and string him up," the mob leader shouted.

The scene of Neal's alleged crime is 120 miles east of here. The mob heavily armed and transported in fifteen automobiles, broke into the jail where Neal had been brought for safekeeping at 2 a. m.

They boldly announced they were from Jackson-co where Lola Canady, white farm girl, was attacked and slain as she fed the hogs on her father's farm.

PICKAWAY 4H CLUB BANQUET SATURDAY

Pickaway-co 4H club members and leaders will complete their year's work with a celebration and banquet in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Reservations have been made for 225 persons for the banquet and program.

R. B. Tom, extension specialist in rural recreation, will direct the games and stunts. Mrs. Alonzo Marion, of Columbus, will direct music and singing, and the Washington-twp orchestra will furnish special music.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, and Guy Dowdy, former agricultural agent for Pickaway-co, will give short talks.

Martha Wright, Perry-twp 4H club member, will preside at the banquet.

The Zeida Guild, of the M. E. church, will serve the dinner.

Abduct Co-ed, Teacher, Tell Police in Two Cities

Detroit Girl Victim of Mistaken Identity, Her Father
Declares.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Miss Mary Elsie Waier, pretty 21-year-old co-ed of Wayne university, Detroit, Mich., who told police she was kidnapped in Detroit last Monday and held prisoner for several days, was a victim of mistaken identity, her father, Vincent Waier, declared today after a dramatic meeting with his daughter.

Arriving here by plane this morning, Waier, a Detroit architect, immediately went to police headquarters and was ushered into the matron's room where his daughter has been cared for since last night.

"Oh, daddy, oh, daddy," the young woman cried as she saw her father.

Both embraced and burst into tears.

Miss Waier sat on her father's knee and told him the details of her abduction.

Emerging from the matron's room, Waier made a statement declaring his daughter was a victim of mistaken identity.

"I don't know why they wanted to kidnap Mary Elsie," he said. "I haven't any money to pay a ransom. Since Mary Elsie's disappearance I have not received any telephone calls or notes demanding a ransom for her release. They just seized the wrong person. I'm going to take her back to Detroit as soon as I can as her mother is all broken up by this thing."

Chief of Police John J. McCarthy of St. Louis agreed with Waier that the young woman was a victim of mistaken identity.

ALKIRES SELL THEIR E. MAIN-ST PROPERTY TO LOCAL ATTORNEY

Announcement of the sale of the property of Harry F. and Melissa Alkire, Main and Washington-sts., to Meeker Terwilliger, attorney, was made Friday by the Circle Realty Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Alkire plan to remove to Williamsport, their former home, it is reported.

ROBINSON ELECTED TO DRAMATIC CLUB

WOOSTER, Oct. 26.—John D. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Robinson, Circleville, has been elected into Green Dominoes at The College of Wooster.

Green Dominoes, at Wooster, is an organization of first year students interested in dramatics. The club is sponsored by the Wooster chapter of Kappa Theta Gamma, college dramatic society which seeks to give Wooster a well-balanced theatrical program for the school year.

Wooster's two dramatic clubs produce most of the plays given on the campus, also undertake a study of the technique of the stage and seek to encourage dramatic efforts on the campus.

MOTOR TRANSPORT GETS NEW TRUCKS

The local Motor Transport unit of the Ohio National guard was augmented by the addition of 31 new Chevrolet trucks brought here Thursday evening from Camp Perry.

The new vehicles include 30 transport trucks and one station truck. The old trucks, possessions of the unit since 1920, were taken to Camp Perry.

New Orleans Teacher Self-
Kidnaped, Probers Believe;
Insists Story True.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 26.—Police and federal agents alike today were confronted with determining whether Virginia Switzer, 26-year-old school teacher of Gulfport, Miss., was actually kidnapped or whether her disappearance was a "hoax."

Although her story was a maze of contradictions, the Mississippi woman still declares that she was "kidnaped," held for $30,000 ransom and that when she walked into the dressing room of a local theatre with heavy bandages of gauze and tape about her face, she had just escaped from her abductors.

DOUBT HER STORY

The police frankly looked upon the kidnapping as a self-inflicted one, but what perplexed them was the young woman's adamant insistence that her story was true.

In describing her abduction Miss Switzer said she was on her way to school in Gulfport when two men jumped on the running board

MISS YATES HEADS NEW COUNTY CLUB

Young Democrats Organize
Thursday Evening, Hear
Judge Zimmerman.

Miss Helen Yates, N. Scioto-st, was elected chairman of the Pickaway-co Young People's Democratic club when about 20 persons attended an organization meeting Thursday evening in the court house.

Other officers include: Frank Marion Jr., first vice president; Robert Adkins, second vice president; Miss Mary Armstrong, secretary, and Henry McCrady, treasurer.

The meeting was addressed by Charles B. Zimmerman, Springfield, candidate for re-election to the Ohio supreme court. Several other guests also attended.

The next meeting will be next Tuesday evening.

Williamsport Woman Dies Thursday Eve

Mrs. Ida Belle Kendall, 66, died Thursday at 8 p. m. at her home in Williamsport of complications. The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Hill funeral home in that village with Rev. W. A. Moore officiating.

Mrs. Kendall was born in Vin-ton-co in 1868 a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thatcher. She was twice married, first to William Salts, and second to Milton Kendall, who survives her.

She is survived by three children of her first marriage, Opal Culley and Lawrence Salts, of McArthur, and James of Washington-twp, and one daughter of her second marriage, Daisy Kendall of the home.

ANOTHER RALLY IS PLANNED AT DERBY

An enthusiastic Republican rally was held at New Holland Friday evening with another scheduled in Derby next Monday. Renick W. Dunlap will speak at the Derby-twp gathering.

Other Republican meetings are scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday next week in Five Points, Williamsport and this city, respectively.

KRINN URGES SUPPORT FOR 3-MILL LEVY

Huge Overdraft in School
Treasury Would Result
Without Money

SPEAKS AT ROTARY

Points Out Tax Not New
But Continuation

A plea to the voters of Circleville to support the three mill levy proposal for schools at the November election was made before the Rotary club Thursday noon by T. D. Krinn, deputy county auditor, who thoroughly went into the matter.

"Unless Circleville's voters support the continuation of this levy," Mr. Krinn warned, "it will mean a loss to the schools of $25,225.74 and should they function throughout the year they will have an overdraft of $16,995.16. The enumeration cost for Circleville school district is: operation, $40.26; bonds and interest, $5.05, making a total of $45.31 per child. The average cost in the county is $69.29 showing Circleville $23.98 under the average cost in Pickaway-co. The board of education of this district has certainly done its duty keeping the per capita cost so low."

RECOMMENDS APPROVAL

Mr. Krinn heartily endorsed and recommended the passage of the three mill proposal for continuing the levy for five years.

Circleville has voted on the proposal three times, it carrying in 1920 by 351 votes, in 1924 by 1302 votes and in 1929 by 622 votes. The levy will not be a new one, Mr. Krinn points out, by a continuation of the one now in force.

Ray S. Spangler, superintendent of the Walnut-twp school, gave the Rotarians an interesting address at the same meeting at which time he explained the county school system.

He classed the country schools in the same plane with the city schools, quite a difference from "when our fathers and grandfathers attended," he said.

"The country schools," the speaker continued, "try to think in terms of rural life activities and from this schooling we hope to make life on the farm a little better."

EXPLAINS COURSES

He also explained the different courses taught in the high school in the country and how this program works to the benefit of each community.

COUNTY HUSKING MEET SATURDAY

Pickaway-co corn huskers will vie Saturday for the right to represent the county in the state contest Nov. 2 on the Carpenter farm near Darbyville. The county contest will be held in conjunction with the Ross-co match on the Hutton farm near Clarksburg.

William Anderson, state champion, who now has an injured hand, is chairman of the Clarksburg corn husking.

Contests are being held in all counties of the state to determine who shall come here next week. Plans are being made to accommodate between 15,000 and 20,000 persons at the state contest.

PARADE IS NOV. 12

The American Legion's Armistice day parade will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 2, instead of Saturday as previously announced.

Demented Soldier Kills 6 During Wild Rampage

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—Trailing what authorities termed a trail of maniacal homicide, police today found the bodies of two youths believed to have been victims of Rosaire Bilodeau, ex-soldier and former mail carrier accused of running amuck and taking six lives.

The bodies found today in the St. Therese De Beaufort woods were those of Bilodeau's two nephews, Gascon and Ferdinand Gauvin, whom Bilodeau told police he killed before shooting three of his female relatives to death.

Ruth Reported New Washington Manager

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A report scoffed at a month ago when Babe Ruth was mentioned as a possible candidate for the managership of the Washington Senators took on a new significance today following the sale of Manager Joe Cronin by the Senators to the Boston Red Sox.

Although no official confirmation or denial was forthcoming at that time baseball writers and those close to the game laughed at the rumors, because Cronin then was preparing to marry Miss Mildred Robertson, adopted daughter of Clark Griffith, chief owner of the Senators.

SON-IN-LAW OF BENTLEYS DIES IN FALL

Automobile Driven By Wife
Flies Open Near Manchester;
Enroute to Augusta, Ky.

Pearl B. Barker, 50, of Lancaster, Pa., son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, N. Scioto-st, was instantly killed Thursday evening when an automobile door flew open and he was thrown to the highway, four miles west of Manchester.

The Barkers were enroute to the home of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Robinson, and brother, Alva A. Barker, in Augusta, Ky., when Mrs. Barker started to drive the car past a truck Mr. and Mrs. Barker intended to come to this city after their visit in Augusta.

ed a broken

The body was taken to Augusta, Ky., where funeral arrangements will be completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watson, and daughter, Laura Jane, of Carroll, Fairfield-co, left today for Augusta to attend the funeral.

Mr. Barker was well known in this city.

NEWARK, Oct. 26.—D. M. Bean, 55, of Cable, O., was dead and his wife was believed dying today as the result of an auto accident near here yesterday when the car in which the couple was riding plunged over a 30-foot embankment.

Mrs. Bean suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

EAST SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 26.—Jesse Robinson, 20, of Dayton, O., was killed, and two other workers in the CCC camp at Richmond, O., were injured today when a truck in which they were riding overturned near here.

Four of the seven CCC youths in the truck escaped injury.

McCRADY WARNS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Officer William McCrady issued warnings in all the city schools to pupils who plan to celebrate Halloween. "There will be no window soaping or paraffining at anytime," McCrady said, "and there will be no Halloweening of any kind until October 31 unless you want to suffer the consequences."

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pontius, Stoutsville, announce the birth of a daughter, Thursday, at Berger hospital.

Robinson, Jr., and the latter's husband, in the event he is caught, on charges of kidnapping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville, Ky., society woman, are Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, top, who will preside at the hearings, and U. S. District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks, below, who will prosecute the case.

RELIEF OFFICE HITS CHISELERS

Recheck of All Lists Ordered
By Adj. Gen. Henderson;
Includes All Counties.

H. S. Irwin and Miss Clara Southard, county relief director and case supervisor, respectively, had been instructed today by Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, chairman of the state relief commission, to recheck their relief lists to make sure that only those persons who are actually in need are relief clients.

Henderson, in a statement in Columbus, said that county officials are taking personal responsibility for the accuracy of their lists. The recheck will be completed by November 1.

The instructions were made after a plea of Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, to expel all "chiselers" from Ohio's relief lists before the beginning of fall and winter work programs.

It is believed there are very few so-called "chiselers" getting relief in Pickaway-co because case investigation has been very thorough and complete.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—News of the Trumbull-co test suit seeking to force the state relief commission to pay the electric light bills of indigent families, was met with the statement today that the relief commission would not retract from its previous stand of offering oil lamps and oil to the needy for lighting purposes.

G. J. Kane, staff director at the relief commission, said that no money was available to pay electric light bills. He reiterated the state's offer to furnish oil lamps to William F. Kearney, on whose behalf the Trumbull-co suit was filed.

"We can't make him accept the oil lamps," Kane shrugged, intimating that if Kearney did not wish to accept the old-fashioned method of lighting he could do without any at all.

Forrest Woods Held For Grand Jury Act

Forrest R. Woods, this city, was bound over to the Ross-co grand jury Thursday after waiving examination on charges that he permitted another to wear his chauffeur's badge. Woods' bond is $200.

He was arrested by state highway patrolmen Tuesday after being chased from Waverly. The highway patrolman who made the arrest charges that Woods was intoxicated and that he turned over his identification and license badge to Ishmal Wiggins, 17-year-old Ross-co youth, who drove the truck into Chillicothe.

Woods drives a truck for his father, J. B. Woods, this city.

Young Wiggins was arrested and is being held for the Ross-co juvenile court for intoxication.

BONUS FIGHT NOW CERTAIN IN CONGRESS

Expect Patman to Start
Fight as Soon as New
Congress Meets

TO PASS IN HOUSE?

Senate Held As Hope of
Roosevelt, Aides

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A prolonged congressional battle over payment of the bonus was anticipated by the administration as a result of the American Legion's demand for legislation.

Conceding that a bonus bill can always pass in the house, administration leaders hope to stop the movement in the senate. In the past the senate has decisively rejected cash payments.

As a prelude to the fight the veterans administration announced that cash payment of the adjusted service certificates would cost $2,300,000,000 and $260,000,000 would be lost if interest in loans is cancelled as urged by the legion.

SNUBBED IN BUDGET

President Roosevelt is expected to prepare his annual budget without regard to the demands of the veterans. Rep. Wright Patman (D) of Texas plans to again obtain "No. 1 on a bill for cash payments, so that the fight can be started soon as congress convenes."

A stiffer fight may be faced by the administration this winter. Officials generally admit that the bonus payment sentiment has been increasing. Two months ago legion officials predicted that any attempt to commit the legion on the bonus would fall flat, but they were powerless at the convention.

Within the past month, Senator James Hamilton Lewis (D) of Illinois, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee and a former opponent of the bonus payment, said he would support it and predicted increasing sentiment in the senate for it. Senator Logan (D) of Kentucky, another former bonus opponent, also now favors it. Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada said that he would support payment if the question comes before the senate.

Patman is willing to eliminate the inflation method of payment of the bonus, and call for issuance of government bonds. He plans to propose an amendment giving the president the power to use either the "green back" or bond method of payments.

"SUPPORT PRESIDENT"

Administration officials believe that the fact that most Democratic candidates are making a campaign on a "support the president" stand is their strongest weapon against passage of a bonus bill. Many Republican candidates pledged to work for a balanced budget, also are debared from supporting it, they say.

NEGRO CONVICTED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—A jury's conviction of murder in the first degree, with no mercy recommended, today hung over William Wright, 39, Chicago negro, for the murder of Mrs. Addie Warrick here on July 4.

The death sentence, made mandatory by the jury's decision, was postponed by Judge Henry L. Scarlett pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

Wright, convicted by the jury after four hours of deliberation last night, was a former player on negro semi-pro baseball and football teams here.

WRIGHT, POLANDO QUIT AIR EVENT

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Convicted their chances are hopeless, John Wright, Ulster, N. Y., alien and John Polando today announced their withdrawal from the Melbourne air derby, it was stated in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Karachi.

Let's find out why
kish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Even as a blended whisky Sweep Stakes was America's best selling brand. Now comes startling news: The new Sweep Stakes is straight—greater value than ever before! Whether you've tried Sweep Stakes before or not you owe it to yourself to try straight Sweep Stakes. It's a grand liquor—and see what you save!

MISS BENNETT HOSTESS AT TEA AND DINNER

Charming in all its appointments was the bridge-tee, Thursday, from 3 to 5 o'clock honoring Miss Peggy Courtwright, E. Mound-st, bride-elect of John D. Blosser of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Donald White (Anne Hathaway), a recent bride, at which Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st, was hostess.

Artistically arranged baskets of beautiful white chrysanthemums decorated the rooms where fifty guests were assembled.

Mrs. Lemuel Weldon and Miss Katherine May presided at the tea table centered with a bowl of chrysanthemums in pastel shades. Out-of-town guests at the affair were Mrs. Peter Blosser, Mrs. Fred Aldrich, Mrs. Warren Kampf, Mrs. Don Morris, Mrs. Robert Tomlinson, Miss Kate Davenport, Miss Irene Tomlinson, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mrs. Francis Pope, Mrs. Clarissa Magbee, Mrs. Russell Savage, Mrs. Robert Barnhart, Mrs. Charles Mills, Mrs. David Towel, Mrs. Allen Macbeth of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Robert Workman of Columbus.

Miss Courtwright and her fiancé were honor guests at a dinner party given by Miss Bennett at 6:30 o'clock at her home last evening. Covers were laid for Miss Carolyn Holmes, Miss Emma and Jane Brown, John Tomlinson, J. W. Blair, John Blosser of Chillicothe, Dan Driskoll of Cleveland, Miss Courtwright, Joseph Adkins Jr., Dorothy Courtwright and Miss Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Evans, of Philadelphia, Pa., who have been visiting in Columbus and Indianapolis, arrived here, Thursday, for a visit with Mr. Evans' sister, Mrs. Joe Wilder, E. Mound-st.

MRS. GEORGE GERHARDT HONORED AT DINNER

Miss Jean Fitzpatrick, Elm-ave, entertained with a lovely dinner party at the Burrell Tea room in Kingston, Thursday evening, complimenting Mrs. George Gerhardt (Dorothy Riegel), a recent bride.

Following the three course dinner at 8 o'clock bridge was enjoyed at three tables. High score honors were won by Miss Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Carl Wallace. Mrs. Gerhardt was presented a lovely gift.

A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the attractive table appointments. Guests were Misses Pauline and Juanita Hill, Miss Zara Sisley, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Willis Liston, Miss Zelma Hoffman, Mrs. Carl Wallace, Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, Miss Jeannette Bower, Miss Mary Roth and Mrs. Gerhardt.

TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES ENJOY DINNER PARTY

The employees of The Citizens Telephone Co. and The Buckeye Lake Home Telephone Co. of Baltimore, enjoyed a most delightful dinner party at Hanley's Tea room, Thursday evening.

Covers were laid for forty five for the dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

The affair given for the employees marked the end of a vigorous campaign to gain new subscribers. Prizes were awarded Bert Poling, Charles Garner, Mrs. Harold Stout and Miss Mary Howard for obtaining the highest number of new telephones.

The gain of telephones for the local company was 166 and for the Baltimore company 51.

In the absence of the local manager, Earl W. Lutz, who was confined to his home by illness, F. R. Nicholas, secretary of the company, presided.

Their Baby Faces Are Their Fortunes

INTERESTING SPEAKER AT BUSINESS CLUBS MEETING

Miss Gladys Clelland, of Lancaster, gave a splendid talk on her trip through the Yellowstone National Park, at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, Thursday evening, in the club room.

Lawrence Goeller, member of the board of education, also talked, explaining the three mill levy.

This program followed the dinner at 6:30 o'clock enjoyed by twenty one members and eleven guests. Three out-of-town guests besides the speaker were present Mrs. Joseph Smith, Miss Martha Nothstine and Miss Ona Miesse all of Lancaster.

Following the program final arrangements were made for the district meeting to be held Sunday at the Country club.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS CLASS HAS HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Thirty four members and guests enjoyed the jolly Halloween party of the Loyal Daughters class of the United Brethren church, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Charles McAllister, E. Franklin-st.

Mrs. Taimor Wise received the guests at the door. Prizes were awarded adults and children wearing the best costumes.

The following were found winners: Beatrice Canter and Rea Jean Mason, prettiest costume; Mrs. McAllister and Gerald Mason, ugliest costume; Miss Carrie Lamaster and Ruth Noggle, most characteristic.

When masks were removed Mrs. Iley Greeno entertained with a reading, "Mrs. Rastus Johnson at the Wedding."

A short devotional service and business meeting followed. The wonder box was won by Mrs. Stella Mavis.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Stanley Ankrom.

U. B. LADIES' AID MEETS THURSDAY

The October meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Brethren church was held Thursday afternoon in the Community house with forty four members and guests present.

Mrs. William Cady, president, opened the meeting with a song service. Prayer was voiced by Mrs. Dan Klingensmith and scripture was read by Mrs. Charles Richardson.

During the business session plans were made for a turkey supper to be sponsored Nov. 15. A reception, honoring Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Harper, was also discussed and will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, in the Community house, to which the congregation is invited.

A program followed with Mrs. Charles Richardson in charge.

Mrs. Mae Hawkes sang a solo, "My Haven," and a reading, "What Kind of a God," was given by Mrs. Ralph Long. Mrs. Vernon Hawkes entertained with a vocal number, "My Task," and the program concluded with a talk on "Revival of the Church" by Rev. Harper.

Refreshments were served during a social hour by Mrs. John Goff, Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. Orin Baker, Mrs. Fred Zwicker and Mrs. Cora Hampshire.

"DEATH SONG"

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

CHAPTER XXVIII

The door of the cottage was opened for us by James Ruxton as we ran up on the porch. Beyond him I could see Milton Cross, slumped in a chair. He was staring with horrified fascination at something on the floor.

"I telephoned for you, doctor," Ruxton said. "I was told you were on your way down."

The doctor nodded. He stepped in and swept the room with a quick glance. On the floor behind the telephone stand in the front of the living room lay the sprawled figure of Willis Clendening. Dr. Calvert walked over and knelt beside the fallen man. He opened his bag and applied his stethoscope to Clendening's chest. For a minute he listened; then he arose, his face expressionless.

"Will you help me carry him to his room, Mr. Fowler?"

"He's dead, doctor?" Ruxton asked in a low voice.

"Yes."

A small, strangled cry of dismay escaped Cross. He shrank deeper into his chair as I passed him and lifted Clendening's feet. The dead man's arms dangled and his body sagged heavily as we carried it into his room and laid it on the bed.

Dr. Calvert walked to the windows and drew the shades, and I was suddenly reminded of my glimpse eight days before of the drunken room of a Seifert Vail with a still body on the bed. The doctor turned on the light and I helped him remove the silk dressing gown from Clendening's body. He opened the pajama coat and then, turning to me, said, "Thank you, Mr. Fowler."

"Was he killed?" I asked.

"Of course not!" Dr. Calvert answered sharply, angrily. "He had a heart attack."

I went back into the living room. It was still raining hard, but the flashes of lightning were less frequent, and the cannoning of the thunder was receding over the mountains. Cross did not even look up as I came in, but Ruxton, his face lined by worried frowns, said to me:

"How did Dr. Calvert hear of it so quickly?"

"I was talking to Clendening on the telephone when I heard him fall," I answered. "I got the doctor."

"I see," he said. "Did Clendening call you?"

"He called Mark and I answered the telephone."

Ruxton was about to speak again when Dr. Calvert came out of Clendening's room. Cross rose shakily to his feet. He took a step toward the doctor. His hand was shaking and his face was a sickly white.

"I want to get out of here!" he said in a breathless whisper. He spoke rapidly almost incoherently, in an exhausted, terrified voice. "First Vail and then Clendening! Nobody's safe here. We'll all be killed, I tell you!" He seized the doctor's coat, and his voice rose almost to a scream. "I won't stay here! Not another night!"

The doctor gripped his wrists. He said in a low, brutal voice, "You fool!" He shook the fat little man, and his words and that contemptuous shaking seemed to cross Cross out of his panic.

"Let go of me!" he said indignantly.

Dr. Calvert released his wrists. Cross said angrily, "I'll complain to the management about this!"

"Complain if you want," the doctor said. "But get it out of your mind that Clendening's death had any connection with Vail's murder. He died of heart disease."

"I don't care what he died of," Cross said hysterically. "I want to be transferred to another cottage!"

"I might have expected it," Calvert answered. "Now you had better go to your room and rest."

"I'll show you you can't put your hands on me," Cross retorted, but he went into his room and closed the door. The doctor turned to us: "Please don't think I was unnecessarily brutal with him," he said. "It's one of the best treatments for hysteria."

Ruxton nodded. "He's a coward," he said calmly. "However, I can understand his dislike of this cottage. I would be more comfortable out of it, too."

"There are plenty of rooms in the other cottages," Dr. Calvert said dryly. "I'll speak to Mr. Anderson about it as soon as I go to the office."

"Thank you," Ruxton paused and smiled apologetically. "It's true, of course, that Clendening died of natural causes."

"Yes. He never took proper care of himself." The doctor turned to me. "By the way, Mr. Fowler, what did he telephone you about?"

"He wanted me to come to see him," I answered. I hesitated and then decided that I might as well tell them what he had said to me, since they would learn it eventually. "He was very excited. He said he had found something important."

"Did he mean something concerning Vail's murder?" Ruxton asked. "That's what I assumed. He told me the other day that he was investigating the murder."

"He was walking around outside the cottage just before the storm," Ruxton said thoughtfully. "I wonder what he could have found?"

"I suppose we'll never know," I remarked. "He died before he could tell me."

"At least that helps to explain his death—overexertion and excitement," Dr. Calvert said. "It's a pity he didn't have Cross's temperament."

"Overexertion and excitement?" Ruxton said. "I wonder if that was all?"

The doctor and I looked at him in surprise.

"I don't understand," Calvert said.

James Ruxton replied, "I was wondering if he had been attacked or frightened by someone."

"What makes you think that?" I asked.

"Something could have happened, and neither Cross nor I would have known it," he answered. "We had been playing checkers in my room. Cross is afraid of thunder and lightning, and when the storm started he pulled down the curtains and sat with his fingers in his ears. The thunder was so loud that neither of us heard Clendening fall. Anything could have happened while we were in there."

I remembered what Mark had told me about the melancholia which was one of the effects of Ruxton's disease. He stood looking at us with gloomy, tired eyes. Dr. Calvert said:

"There's no evidence of anything of the sort, Mr. Ruxton. Don't you think you're letting your imagination run away with you?"

"It might not have been an attack," the other man answered stubbornly, "but it's quite possible that some sudden shock killed him. He was sitting facing the window. He may have seen some face that frightened him."

His voice was tense and low, standing there in that gloomy cottage where two men had met violent death, there seemed nothing incredible in his theory. It was fantastic, but so were the three deaths of the last eight days. Unwillingly I found some of his fear communicating itself to me.

The unexpected arrival of Dave Finn was, to me, a welcome interruption. He came stamping in, shaking water from his slicker. "Good morning," he said. "Where's Clendening?"

"He's dead," Dr. Calvert replied. "Dead?" Finn echoed. "Why, he phoned me less than a half hour ago. An expression of consternation grew on his broad, tanned face. He did not finish his question. Dr. Calvert, reading it as clearly as I did, interrupted:

"Heart disease."

"He would die before I could see him!" the sheriff said slowly, bitterly. "That's the way everything's been broken for me in this case. I might have expected it."

The sheriff looked around the room at the three of us.

"Any of you know what he wanted to tell me?" he asked.

Ruxton answered for all of us. "No," he said.

"He called me up and said he'd found out something important about the murder. He wouldn't say what it was over the phone. He sounded scared," Finn turned to me. "Did he give you any idea what it was?"

I shook my head. "No," I said,

"but from what he said I understood that he had found something—something tangible. He called Mark and when I answered the telephone, he said he wanted me to come down."

"I've found something very important," Thos. were his words.

"Finding something's different from finding out something," Finn said. He stood thinking for a minute. "He took a look at him," he said. "Where is he?"

"In his room," Dr. Calvert said, pointing to it.

The sheriff went in and remained for a few minutes. It seemed to me that when he came out he looked less despondent.

"Did Mr. Hillyer know what he meant?" he asked me eagerly.

"I don't know," I said. "Why don't you go to see him?"

"I told him how the doctor and I had passed her on the veranda of the main building as he started to Lake-side Cottage."

"I almost forgot it in the excitement," I said.

Finn was excited. "She must have come up on the morning train. I bet she was hiding out in New York!"

I glanced at the doctor. He walked along, his eyes straight ahead. He looked as though he had not heard a word we had spoken.

Finn took the porch steps two at a time and strode into the lobby of the main building. He said to the telephone operator at the desk, "Where's Felipa?"

"Felipa?" the man repeated. He sounded as though he had never heard the name before.

"You heard me," Finn said.

"Where is she?"

"In Mr. Anderson's office, I think," the operator replied.

As the sheriff started down the hall, the business manager's door opened and Felipa came out. She was crying. With her handkerchief held to her eyes, she did not see us until the sheriff put his hand on her arm. She jerked her head up and when she recognized him, she sank away from him with a cry of dismay.

"Well, Felipa," Finn said in a soft voice, "so you decided to come back, did you?"

She looked at him dumbly.

"I guess you read in the papers that the case was closed, didn't you?" Finn went on. "You decided it was safe to come back, didn't you?"

She winced as his hand tightened on her arm. "Please let me go," she said. "I know nothing."

"Oh, no," Finn said. "Me and you are going to have a talk. Guess you thought you'd get away again, didn't you?"

"Mr. Anderson say I must go," she said. "He tell me I can't work here again. He say to get my clothes and go away."

"Well, he must have made a mistake," he forgot I been looking for you."

A suave voice said, "Felipa must have misunderstood me. I told her to get her things and come back to my office. I was about to telephone you, sheriff."

Anderson was standing in the door of his office. He was, as always, bland and impenetrable. Nothing could efface his gentle, diplomatic smile; nothing could shake his poise. He went on, "Won't you both come in?"

The sheriff looked at him with open suspicion. He must have known that Anderson, who above all else wanted the Vail case to remain closed, had tried to get Felipa away before the sheriff heard she was there. But he could not prove it, and he was too well aware of the sanatorium manager's importance to make any such accusation. He scowled, tugged at his mustache and then said to Felipa, "Come on!"

Facts About The Normal Child

by ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I HAVE JUST finished reading a newly published book about the normal child. It contains many items interesting to mothers. It is well for all to be reminded of what is important in weighing the welfare of the little visitor.

The average child at birth weighs seven and one-half pounds and measures twenty and one-half inches from head to toe. The infant's stomach only holds one ounce of food to begin with, but its capacity is increased to six ounces in six months.

The first year is probably the most important. During this time the baby undergoes certain changes that influence its future development. It is during this period that the child learns to eat and sleep at regular times, to hold the head up, to stand up, and possibly to walk and talk.

Habit Forming Age

The infant soon learns whether crying will attract the mother's attention. It discovers the use of various articles, such as a spoon, cup, ball and blocks, and soon learns to use these things without help from the parent.

During this period the baby also learns to distinguish one person from another and occasionally to recognize certain words.

At the end of four months the baby is round and chubby. As a rule it has nearly doubled its weight and has grown from two and one-half to three and one-half inches. The muscles increase in strength. This is evidenced by vigorous kicking and the infant's ability to keep its head up if the body is supported.

After the age of four months the baby continues to grow rapidly in weight and height. By the end of eight months it should weigh between sixteen and nineteen pounds and measure from twenty-five to twenty-eight inches in length. The infant uses its hands more, having learned to pick up objects, as well as make various understandable sounds, such as "ma-ma" and "da-da."

If the baby fails to gain weight and is not making the necessary progress, it may be due to the lack of mother's milk, or to the fact that the milk is not rich enough. In either case it is imperative that the baby be weaned and a milk formula provided. The doctor will advise just how to prepare the formula required by the baby.

If Child Is "Slow"

The average infant begins to crawl at nine months and to toddle at twelve months. Some children learn to walk at an earlier age than others. As a rule girls learn to walk and talk sooner than boys.

Many mothers are alarmed when a child is slow in walking. Bear in mind that forced walking leads to bowing of the legs. The child should not be made to walk until it has fully developed muscular strength. Do not be discouraged if your baby learns to walk a few weeks later than your neighbor's.

Perhaps the most important thing the baby learns during the first twelve months of its life is the formation of good habits. At birth the baby has no habits. They are formed by doing the same thing over and over again. Habits of regularity in feeding, sleeping and elimination are the baby's first lessons in character building. Early fixing of health habits will be useful all through life.

GAS COMPANY, CHILlicothe MAY AGREE ON VALUATIONS

A compromise on the matter of the valuation of local property of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., to save time and money in the final settlement of the rate controversy was voted Wednesday by Chillicothe council at an informal meeting upon the recommendation of C. E.

Brown, engineer of Burns & McDonnell. Valuation of the property is only one of the several factors that figure in rate-making. Brown told councilmen, and for the city and company to do battle before the public utility commission on this item would probably prolong the case eight or nine months and add $4,000 or $5,000 to the costs of litigation.

The amount of money involved in the difference between the city's and the company's valuation estimates is approximately $7,005. The company is willing to split the difference to speed up the case. At the most the compromise wouldn't make more than about 40c difference per year on the bill of an average consumer, Brown declared.

Facts pertaining to the case were first presented to councilmen by Solicitor Phil Butler who, together with the Burns & McDonnell engineer had conferred with gas company officials Tuesday.

Opposing engineers have agreed upon the company's inventory, Butler said, and are within 13 cent of each other on the matter of pricing.

Brown then explained how 30 test holes had been made in examining the company's distribution system here, and pointing out that the difference in the two valuations was a controversial engineering subject impossible of rule of thumb settlement, recommending a compromise. A motion that his recommendation be granted passed unanimously on motion of Starr, second of McCoy.

Factors involved in rate-making, in addition to valuation, he pointed out, are the gas rate, operating expenses, taxes plus reasonable return on investment. He said that he expects to begin his studies of operating costs in the company's accounting department at Columbus in the next day or so.

YOUR GROCER WILL HELP YOU KEEP HEALTHY AND HAPPY

Delicious Cereal Promotes Regular Habits

The right kinds of foods form the very basis of health. You need nourishment for strength and energy. And you need "bulk" to prevent common constipation.

Otherwise, this ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. You can correct it, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds generous "bulk" to your daily menu. Tests show this "bulk" is similar to that found in leafy vegetables.

Inside the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

ALL-BRAN is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it safer—and pleasanter—to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonsfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of common constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into fluffy muffins and breads.

Remember, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WESTERVILLE WINS FROM TIGERS, 20-0

Westerville brought a big hard driving football team to town Thursday afternoon and in a rain almost as driving carried off a 20-0 victory. The field was sprinkled Wednesday in an effort to lay the dust. Prior to the game rain started to fall and before the first period was ended the field was a sea of mud.

The soft underfooting did not hinder the Westerville team to a great extent with its backfield men, led by Collier, splitting the Tiger line with ease in the early parts of the game.

The Tigers played the Westerville game on a fairly even basis in the last half although the Franklin-outfit did rally a touch down in the third period.

COVER FUMBLE

An exchange of punts started the game with Westerville covering a Circleville fumble on the Red and Black 34 yard line. It did not take long for Collier and Parker to rip off the necessary yardage for the former to crash through the line and over the goal from the 12 yard line. Parker's kick was good.

The second touchdown came early in the second period when Parker took the ball to the two yard line then crashed over. Failing to handle the ball while trying to kick, Parker ran around end for the extra point.

The third period score came on a 50 yard drive with Westerville tallying four consecutive first downs. Parker scored the touchdown but his try for extra point was no good when he was smeared.

The Tigers put on an offensive in the third period but after passing midfield were forced to kick. The team was fighting hard and driving as well as possible through the ankle deep mud.

WATTS, PLUM OUT

Coach Herberholz was able to present almost his full lineup with Joe Bell returning to take the quarterback duties. Bob Watts was not in the lineup and neither was Ned Plum who has an injured arm. John McGinnis was out of uniform because of ineptitude.

Next Friday the Tigers play Bexley here in their final league game closing their season a week later at London.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 26.—The University of Illinois football squad, led by Coach Bob Zuppke left today for Ann Arbor for the contest with the Michigan Wolverines tomorrow.

Four afternoons of stiff drill were given the Illini this week in preparation for the Michigan game. The Illinois squad will take the field in good physical shape with the exception of Co-capt. Chuck Bennis, guard. Bennis may play, however.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

MORE PREDICTIONS

No matter how far wrong you are—last week we missed five out of 16 guesses—you continue to try to predict the victor in the nation's leading football games—This week's lineup provides one of the toughest we have ever tackled and it is highly possible that the majority will be wrong.

Here they go.
 Ohio over Northwestern.
 Army over Yale.
 Louisiana State over Vanderbilt.
 Tennessee over Duke.
 Ohio U. over Marshall.
 Notre Dame over Wisconsin.
 Iowa State over Nebraska.
 Illinois over Michigan.
 Holy Cross over Colgate.
 Dartmouth over Harvard.
 Fordham over Southern Methodist.
 Denison over Case.
 Chicago over Missouri.
 Purdue over Carnegie Tech.
 Alabama over Georgia.
 Ohio Wesleyan over Wittenberg.
 Cincinnati over Georgetown.

BEXLEY CARRIES

Bexley continued in undisputed leadership of the CBL, Thursday, winning a hard-fought 6-2 victory over Delaware—Since Delaware was able to beat the Tigers by only a small margin a good game looms here next Friday in the final home test of the Red and Black—Bexley fumbled a punt on the one yard line late in the game to crash for the touchdown after Delaware had led through the game by a two point margin gained from a safety—Grandview defeated Marysville in the other league fray.

Bowling News

Container Corporation keglers did some more hilarious bowling Thursday evening on the Circleville Recreation alleys with Power out totalling Maintenance 1947 to 1749, and Papermakers taking the Office quintet 1969 to 1879.
 The scores were:
 Power: Gall, 306; Buskirk, 407; Elkins, 520; Gentzel, 378; Schnee, 336.
 Maintenance: Goodman, 361; Ramey, 421; Morehauser, 458; Quincel, 377; Montgomery, 332.
 Papermakers: Watson, 405; Mills, 326; Shirre, 340; Vanatta, 445; Thomas, 393.
 Office: Eagleson, 310; Blacksen, 383; McClure, 331; Norris, 411; Herkless, 444.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 26.—Their line greatly weakened by the loss of Capt. Al Kawal, guard, and due to be outweighed 12 pounds per man by Ohio State, Northwestern's Wildcats were to score the usual "day before" signal drill today for a long session of practice on passing formations.

MRS. YAPLE, 39, DIED

Mrs. Virga M. Yaple, 39, died Wednesday at 7:20 p. m. of complications at her home south of Adelphi.
 Besides her husband, Benjamin Yaple, she is survived by her father, Jacob Tedrow and seven children.
 Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at Pike Run church with burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Convicted of Attack

John W. Brewer, above, 38-year-old Denver resident, is under sentence to serve 20 to 30 years in the penitentiary following his conviction in the Denver district court on a statutory charge against a 12-year-old girl who faces motherhood or possible death because of the crime. The court refused to sanction an operation to prevent motherhood for the girl.

CRONIN TO BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Reported sale of Joe Cronin, "boy manager" of the Washington Senators, to the Boston Red Sox was hailed among baseball fans here today as forecasting his probably succeeding Stanley "Bucky" Harris, 25 manager.

Harris came here from the Detroit Tigers under a one year contract. A verbal agreement was reported at the time to the effect that if the rejuvenated Sox in their remodelled plant made a good showing Harris and the Sox management would talk over the question of a new contract for the 1935 season.

DETROIT PRACTICES ON RED BIRD FIELD

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—The Red Bird stadium here, scene of many gruelling American league baseball battles this summer, will be turned over to the Detroit Lions of the National Professional football league this afternoon as the Motor City squad stops off here for a workout for its Sunday game at Portsmouth against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Lions, with many former college stars on its roster of 22 players, were to leave Columbus for Portsmouth early tomorrow after the scrimmage this afternoon. The Lions won their first six starts this season while the Reds have lost just as many.

For many members of the Detroit squad, the trip to Portsmouth will be a homecoming. The Lions formerly were the Portsmouth Spartans. Cincinnati upset the Spartans in the tilt at Portsmouth's municipal stadium last year by a 10 to 7 score.

ICWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 26.—Forty thousand persons, it was estimated today, will witness the gridiron contest between Iowa and the unbeaten Minnesota Gophers here.

Although Coach Bernie Bierman's Minnesota eleven rated a heavy favorite the Hawkeye contingent figures that perhaps tomorrow is the day when Oze Simmons, flashy negro halfback, will regain the form he showed against Northwestern.
 The Minnesota team arrived at Cedar Rapids this morning.

Jackson is Ready For Field Trials

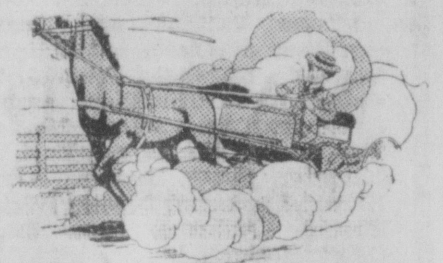

JACKSON, Oct. 26.—Hounds and horses from all parts of the United States will have their days beginning Sunday, Oct. 28, when the forty-first annual field trials of the National Fox Hunters Association gets under way here for a week of dog and horse shows and field work exhibitions.

Although the actual demonstrations will not get under way until Monday morning, the registration of the hounds and the markings for the futurities will begin Sunday with an elaborate celebration. Business men of both Jackson and Wellston are backing the events, which will be held in connection with the Jackson County agricultural and industrial exposition at the Jackson County fair grounds.

A total of 12 trophies, two of them representing national championships in the hunting dog trials, and the purse of $500 for the winner of the fourteenth chase of futurity hounds will be offered in the field trials.

WASHINGTON-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

The P. T. A. Carnival was held Friday night, Oct. 19, at the school house.

The usual good time was had by all. The crowd was fine and the number of those taking part in the masquerade was near 100. Dorothy and Garnet Davis won first prize for the prettiest costume in adult class. Miss Rader and Mrs. Huffer won first for best characterization.

In the Junior class Peggy Goeller won first for prettiest and Helen Mast won the first prize for the best characterization. A nice sum was cleared for the P. T. A. The attendance in grades four and five this week was 100 per cent.

The honor roll for grade four: Bobby Klingensmith, David Bolender, and Hulda Shepherd. Honor roll for fifth grade: Martha Twaddle, Paul Brobst, and Dorothy Schock.

Sixth grade honor roll: Margaret Goode, and Paul Matz. The Juniors have received their class rings which were bought from the Herff-Jones Co., of Indianapolis.

The boys baseball team won two games during the last week defeating Stoutsville by a score of 4-2 and then defeating Pickaway on Friday by a score of 7-5. Our baseball record has been good and we are now about ready to start basketball practice.

The following pupils are on the honor roll for the first six weeks term from the third grade: Fairy Richards, Vance Mounts, Charles McCoy, Neil Matz, Jeanne Goode, Audrie Elliott, Raymond Brungs and Dorothy Brobst. Junior Brown entered the third

Now Chevrolet adds the world's lowest-priced six-cylinder 4-door sedan to its line

This new and unusual value in an ideal family car brings 4-door Sedan ownership within reach of new thousands

Chevrolet—builder of the world's lowest-priced line of Sixes—now adds to that line the world's lowest-priced six-cylinder 4-door Sedan. This new model brings 4-door Sedan roominess and comfort within reach of even the most modest incomes, and completes the remarkable line of Standard models which, with a base price of $465, at Flint, today afford such unusual values to America.

The Standard 4-door Sedan is a quality car through-

Unobtrusive—Effective

"Professor" Charles Taussig, who is not actually a professor but gets the title constantly tacked on to him, is still in the picture. But Taussig long ago learned that unobtrusiveness was part of effectiveness and has functioned accordingly.

There are several others who have followed the same course.

Professor M. L. Wilson—(Montana State College) is doing an effective job as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, though he is not close to the President.

Professor James Landis—(Harvard Law School) has settled down to a less meteoric course in the Securities Exchange Commission. But no longer is he a frequent visitor of the White House.

Professor William I. Myers—(Cornell) is sawing wood as Governor of the Federal Farm Board, and sawing, it effectively. He was never close to the President.

But the man who has really learned the knack of coming back is none other than our old friend Professor Ray Moley.

Moley is in the good graces of the White House.

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.

Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientists' latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell.

McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 3, seriously sick, got well and gained 10½ lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 3 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McCoys' at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoys'—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes. Insist on the original McCoys'—there are none better.

VETERANS ADOPT 12-POINT PROGRAM

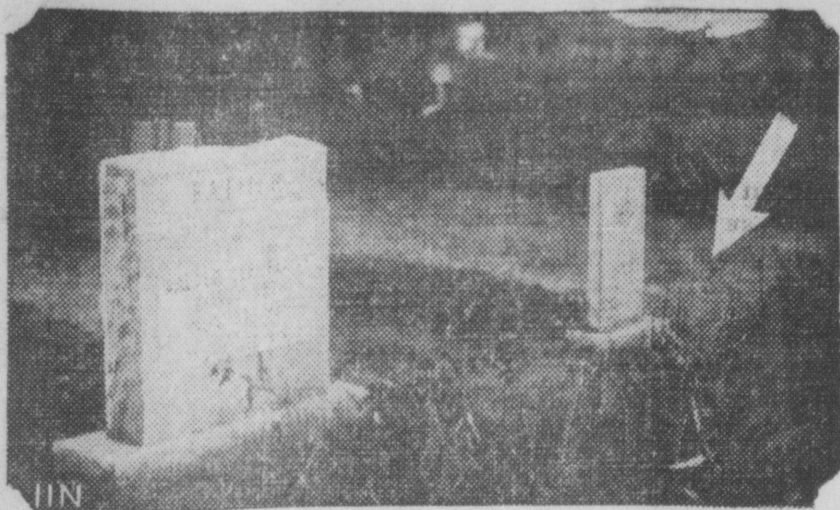

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 26.—The sixteenth annual convention of the American Legion passed into history today after laying down an important 12-point program, featured by a plea for an immediate $2,200,000,000 cash settlement of the adjusted service (bonus) certificates for 2,500,000 World War veterans.

The Legion adopted a resolution declaring its political neutrality between the two major parties, but sandwiched this in between the demand for cashing the bonus in opposition to President Roosevelt's wishes and a declaration in support of the administration's social development program. Then, it declared war on Communists, seeking to ban their literature from the mails and their party label from all ballots.

FACES POLITICAL WAR
In spite of its neutrality declaration, the Legion appeared heading toward a political war on congress next winter. It instructed its legislative representatives to seek cash settlement of bonus certificates at their present face value, although Democratic legislators fought the proposal as inimical to the Roosevelt administration. It injected itself into national politics too by branding the Roosevelt administration with being "definitely committed to the policy" of spending money "for the purpose of hastening recovery."

The Legion based its plea for cashing the bonus on this "spending policy," declaring cash payments would increase the nation's purchasing power, distribute money uniformly throughout the nation, help veterans in dire distress and "lighten immeasurably" the relief burden of cities, counties and states. It declared the bonus payments would hasten economic recovery.

After clashing with the administration on the bonus issue, the Legion turned around and literally endorsed President Roosevelt's social betterment program. It ordered an immediate inquiry into the benefits of an old age pension law, unemployment insurance and a law to reduce working hours without decreasing wages. Mr. Roosevelt probably will recommend this legislation to the next congress, as he favored a 30-hour work week in the last session.

The Legion also was on record as demanding enactment by congress of a universal draft law, which would conscript capital, industry, labor and manpower in time of war. It likewise proposed for itself a greater child welfare program.

The war veterans went after Communists and aliens. The convention voted to ask congress to bar Communist literature from the mails and to secure from the states a ban on Communist party emblems on ballots. It demanded registration of aliens and deportment of criminal aliens.

In contrast to its bonus demand, the Legion declared against promiscuous pensions for war veterans. This declaration, incidentally, won a big hand from the veterans.

Mr. Sponsler explained the system of merits and demerits. Song, "Little Annie Rooney"—Assembly.

In the future chapel programs will be made out two weeks in advance.

Much to the joy of students at Walnut, a new system has gone into effect. It is a system of demerits whereby each student, for infraction of regulation will be punished by being assessed so many demerits.

By having less than 33 demerits for each six-weeks the pupil will be exempt from semester tests in studies in which he has an average of "G" or above.

Also in the new system the six weeks tests will be absolute, having instead short tests after each unit or chapter of work.

It is hoped this system will cause a better attitude in class work and therefore higher grades.

Honor Roll and Attendance.
Seventeen per cent of the High School is on the Honor Roll. This Honor Roll is comprised of those students making an average of G or above.

For individual honors, Hazel Peters tops the list with an average of E. The Senior Class leads the high school with 32 per cent. Telma Baker, Jane Brown, Martha Grubb, Wilda Hanover, Bertha Koch, George Littrell, Winona Peters and Elizabeth Reber. The Freshman class makes their initial bow with 18 per cent represented: Adelia Hartley, Grace Hoffman, Helen Hanover, Jacqueline Lewis, Ruth Myers, Hazel Peters, Donald Forquer, Hugh Lamb, George Littrell, and Norman Trapp. The 14 per cent Juniors are: Mary Noecker, Ruth Beers, Mary Peters and Anne Reber.

Comprising the 7 per cent of the Sophomores are: Dorothy Hoffman, Virginia Peters, and Howard Lewis.

The six-weeks percentage of attendance for the high-school girls is 92 per cent and that for the boys is 91 per cent. There were 44 girls and 32 boys in the high school who had perfect attendance.

School will be closed Oct. 26, for the Central Ohio Teachers' Convention in Columbus.

Letters were sent out this week to parents of first and second grade children concerning results of physical examinations held the second week of school.

CLASS NOTES

At a Sophomore class meeting the class voted to have fifty cents class dues. A committee was appointed to decide on a class outing to be in the form of a picnic, weiner roast, or party. Members of the committee are Lorena Whiting, Howard Lewis and Berman Calvert.

The Juniors have decided to postpone their party because of the F. F. A. Carnival.

The various class officers met Tuesday to appoint a committee to plan chapel programs. Those appointed are Jane Brown, Arthur Reiser, Anne Reber, George Peters, Virginia Peters, Wanetta Huffer, Grace Hoffman, Jacqueline Lewis and Joseph Snelling, arbitrator.

Music—Miss Ruffner / Grade Music

The first grade and Miss Weaver's room are having rhythmic drills.

The second grade pupils are studying scale writing and singing October songs.

In the third grade original four-measure melodies were written by Joe Hedges, Elsie Barr, Harriett Heffner, Edith Strehle and Billy Tomlinson and were sung by the class Wednesday.

The fourth grade pupils learned a new song, "Little Orphan Annie."

The fifth and sixth grades have been practicing a new song, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin and the Fodders in the Shock."

GLEE CLUB

Miss Ruffner is planning to select a girls Sextet and a boys Octet soon.

ATHLETIC NEWS

The girls began soccer practice Monday. This is the first time that soccer has been played at Walnut and the game seems to be gaining favor as each day more girls report to practice.

The boys are still playing baseball. The big game of the week was played Wednesday. The Juniors vs the Seniors with the Juniors on the short end of a 5-1 score.

A new plan of basketball for county schools is to be put into effect, which provides that each school must play every other school at least once in two years. A provision in the plan has been made for the location of games so that each school has an equal number of games at home and abroad within the compulsory schedule. The compulsory schedule provides that there be seven dates involved but that any individual school will play on only six of the fixed dates. This extra date, (the seventh) is made necessary because of the fact that there are thirteen high schools which is an odd number, in the county system.

Entrants in the girls basketball tournament in February will be determined by the percentage earned in this six game schedule. The following schools are the ones which Walnut will play this coming season: Scioto, Perry, New Holland, Williamsport, Mulenberg, Pickaway, and Salt Creek. Four of these games are abroad and three are home games.

School was dismissed Friday afternoon the fifth and sixth periods, for interclass baseball.

are given and themes are written and read. Each pupil strives to better himself each time.

An effective reading course is being planned. The students are asked to read as many books as possible. This is to create reading interests and form the habit of reading the works of good authors. They are following a course outlined in Modern Literature for the reading of contemporary and classical literature.

Almost every week one class period is used for discussion of current news. By this plan more interest is created to look farther than the headlines of the daily newspaper.

The Juniors, who have been studying Shakespeare, are reading his "Macbeth."

The Sophomores have concentrated on the word, its origin and precision in oral and written English. They will now begin a unit of the study of the words in relation to each other in the study of sentence structure.

Senior French students plan to enact some one act plays. This will be a medium to facilitate the spoken language.

The weekly news is compiled by the Senior class.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Freshman girls have started a new unit which is breakfasts. At first they will study fruits, about their food values and preparation.

The second division has made good progress with their wool dresses. Most of the girls have had second fittings and have started the finishings.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

All four classes in agriculture are busy in electing their projects for the coming year.

Mr. Bowne was absent Wednesday afternoon and evening. He attended District Number Seven, Vocational Agriculture, Teachers' Fall Conference at Ohio State university.

Professors Now Are Few; Quiet in Roosevelt's Administration

WASHINGTON—One particular class of Roosevelt advisers has been as silent as the tomb recently. They have not peeped. Their names have been strangely absent from the headlines. Few of them have been within a stone's throw of the White House.

Which arouses the legitimate question: What's become of the professors?

There was a day when the White House door squeaked constantly with the comings and goings of the professors. There was a day when they gathered round Roosevelt in constant and intimate huddles. There was a day when the professional hand was seen in every important move he made.

That day is now gone. Quietly and without any blare of trumpets, Roosevelt has shifted the professors into the background. Many of them are still functioning—and effectively. But they have learned to lie low.

Roll Call

Let's call the roll—see what has become of the scholarly gentlemen who once frequented the White House.

Professor Rexford G. Tugwell (Columbia), most ornate and publicized scholar of them all, is now in Europe attending the International Agricultural Conference. This conference has been held many times before, but never before has it been considered important enough for the second highest man in the Department of Agriculture to attend.

Even if it were, it would not justify his spending six weeks of waiting in Europe for the Conference to open.

Professor Tugwell, of course, was shunted out of the political picture because he was not a political asset. He is not through, but his political effectiveness is lessened. And one thing which lessened it was his pose as a stalwart conservative before Ed. Smith's Senate Agricultural Committee.

Tugwell will come back, will do good work in the Department of Agriculture. But he will stay in the background.

Professor A. A. Berle (Columbia), intellectual prodigy who graduated from Harvard at the age of 17, has faded out of the picture almost completely. There was a time when he wrote some of Roosevelt's best speeches, pushed some of his best policies. But now Berle is too busy being City Chamberlain for Mayor La Guardia in New York. He is seldom seen around the White House.

Professor George F. Warren, who sold Roosevelt gold devaluation and the rubber dollar, has gone back to Cornell and the teaching of farm management.

He has been slightly critical of the Administration, is not in high favor at the White House. But not long ago, after repeated requests for an interview with the President he had lunch with him. It was the most expeditious way to dispose of Dr. Warren.

Exit Rogers

Professor James Harvey Rogers, twin monetary adviser with Warren, has gone back to Yale. He did not even get a chance to see the President.

The manner of Rogers' passing is significant and not generally known. Until he went to China to study silver, Rogers refused to accept Government salary, felt he could be more effective if he remained independent. In China, of course he got salary and expenses, but when he returned he asked to be taken off the Government payroll.

So one day Rogers got a letter from his monetary boss, young Henry Morgenthau. In substance it read:

"I regret so much that you cannot join the staff of the Treasury Department. Will you be good enough to finish your report (on China) within a month and please regard all the information contained therein as confidential."

Enclosed with this letter was another, also on Treasury Department stationery and signed by

PETITION FOR SCIOTO RIVER WORK READY

Local Names Forwarded
to Jordan Today; Added
to 3,000 Others

TO FILE TUESDAY

Judges to Meet Dec. 3 Under
Jordan Plan

Petitions bearing names of many Circleville and Pickaway-co. community leaders were mailed special delivery to Columbus this afternoon to be added to 3,000 other names urging the formation of a Scioto-Sandusky water conservancy district similar to the gigantic Muskingum valley project.

The petitions will be filed in Franklin-co. common pleas court next Tuesday by Alan Jordan, executive secretary of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control congress, who has appeared here several times in the interests of the project.

SMITH, HAYS ACTIVE

Several prominent men including J. I. Smith, canner, and Hulse Hays, postmaster, have been active in circulation of the petitions in Pickaway-co.

The petitions now in Mr. Jordan's hands include names of more than 3,000 signers in the 17 central and southcentral Ohio counties comprising the district. Additional names will be presented at the meeting next Tuesday. Only 500 signatures were needed.

Future plans for the development of the conservancy will be discussed after an election of officers at Tuesday's meeting.

Mr. Jordan has tentatively set Dec. 3 for a hearing before the conservancy court of 17 judges, representing each county.

TO DETERMINE GRANT

The jurists, who include Judge J. W. Adkins, of Pickaway-co., will determine if the district shall ask a Public Works administration grant for the project.

MOB SNATCHES GIRL'S KILLER

20-Year-Old Alabama To Be
Hung Angered Crowd Cries
In Storming Jail.

BREWTON, Ala., Oct. 26.—A mob shouting for his life today stormed the jail here, dragged Claude Neal, 20-year-old negro charged with assaulting and murdering a white girl, from the protection of his cell, and carried him away.

"We're going to take him back to Jackson-co. and string him up," the mob leader shouted.

The scene of Neal's alleged crime is 120 miles east of here.

The mob heavily armed and transported in fifteen automobiles, broke into the jail where Neal had been brought for safekeeping at 2 a. m.

They boldly announced they were from Jackson-co. where Lola Canady, white farm girl, was attacked and slain as she fed the hogs on her father's farm.

PICKAWAY 4H CLUB BANQUET SATURDAY

Pickaway-co. 4H club members and leaders will complete their year's work with a celebration and banquet in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Reservations have been made for 225 persons for the banquet and club program.

R. B. Tom, extension specialist in rural recreation, will direct the games and stunts. Mrs. Aleno Marion, of Columbus, will direct music and singing, and the Washington-twp. orchestra will furnish special music.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, and Guy Dowdy, former agricultural agent for Pickaway-co., will give short talks.

Martha Wright, Perry-twp. 4H club member, will preside at the banquet.

The Zelda Guild, of the M. E. church, will serve the dinner.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Miss Edith Heine, E. Mound-st., was taken to Grant hospital, Friday morning, where she is expected to undergo a gaiter operation.

Ellen McAdoo and Fiance

This photo shows Ellen Wilson McAdoo, 19-year-old daughter of U. S. Senator W. G. McAdoo, and her actor-fiance, Rafael Lopez De Onate, 38, whose proposed marriage has been delayed, after California officials started a probe to determine whether De Onate was of Malay or Filipino blood, which would prevent a marriage union under law.

Abduct Co-ed, Teacher, Tell Police in Two Cities

Detroit Girl Victim of
Taken Identity, Her Father
Declares.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Miss Mary Elsie Waier, pretty 21-year-old co-ed of Wayne university, Detroit, Mich., who told police she was kidnapped in Detroit last Monday and held prisoner for several days, was a victim of mistaken identity, her father, Vincent Waier, declared today after a dramatic meeting with his daughter.

Arriving here by plane this morning, Waier, a Detroit architect, immediately went to police headquarters and was ushered into the matron's room where his daughter has been cared for since last night.

"Oh, daddy, oh, daddy," the young woman cried as she saw her father.

Both embraced and burst into tears.

Miss Waier sat on her father's knee and told him the details of her abduction.

Emerging from the matron's room, Waier made a statement declaring his daughter was a victim of mistaken identity.

"I don't know why they wanted to kidnap Mary Elsie," he said. "I haven't any money to pay a ransom. Since Mary Elsie's disappearance I have not received any telephone calls or notes demanding a ransom for her release. They just seized the wrong person. I'm going to take her back to Detroit as soon as I can as her mother is all broken up by this thing."

Chief of Police John J. McCarthy of St. Louis agreed with Waier that the young woman was a victim of mistaken identity.

ALKIRES SELL THEIR E. MAIN-ST. PROPERTY TO LOCAL ATTORNEY

Announcement of the sale of the property of Harry F. and Melissa Alkire, Main and Washington-sts., to Meeker Terwilliger, attorney, was made Friday by the Circle Realty Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Alkire plan to remove to Williamsport, their former home, it is reported.

ROBINSON ELECTED TO DRAMATIC CLUB

WOOSTER, Oct. 26.—John D. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Robinson, Circleville, has been elected into Green Dominoes at The College of Wooster.

Green Dominoes, at Wooster, is an organization of first year students interested in dramatics. The club is sponsored by the Wooster chapter of Kappa Theta Gamma, college dramatic society which seeks to give Wooster a well-balanced theatrical program for the school year.

Wooster's two dramatic clubs produce most of the plays given on the campus, also undertake a study of the technique of the stage and seek to encourage dramatic efforts on the campus.

MOTOR TRANSPORT GETS NEW TRUCKS

The local Motor Transport unit of the Ohio National guard was augmented by the addition of 31 new Chevrolet trucks brought here Thursday evening from Camp Perry.

The new vehicles include 30 transport trucks and one station truck.

The old trucks, possessions of the unit since 1920, were taken to Camp Perry.

New Orleans Teacher Self-
Kidnaped, Probers Believe;
Insists Story True.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 26.—Police and federal agents alike today were confronted with determining whether Virginia Switzer, 26-year-old school teacher of Gulfport, Miss., was actually kidnaped or whether her disappearance was a "hoax."

Although her story was a maze of contradictions, the Mississippi woman still declares that she was "kidnaped," held for $30,000 ransom and that when she walked into the dressing room of a local theatre with heavy bandages of gauze and tape about her face, she had just escaped from her abductors.

DOUBT HER STORY

The police frankly looked upon the kidnapping as a self-inflicted one, but what perplexed them was the young woman's adamant insistence that her story was true.

In describing her abduction Miss Switzer said she was on her way to school in Gulfport when two men jumped on the running board

MISS YATES HEADS NEW COUNTY CLUB

Young Democrats Organize
Thursday Evening, Hear
Judge Zimmerman.

Miss Helen Yates, N. Scioto-st., was elected chairman of the Pickaway-co. Young People's Democratic club when about 20 persons attended an organization meeting Thursday evening in the court house.

Other officers include: Frank Marion Jr., first vice president; Robert Adkins, second vice president; Miss Mary Armstrong, secretary; and Henry McCready, treasurer.

The meeting was addressed by Charles B. Zimmerman, Springfield, candidate for re-election to the Ohio supreme court. Several other guests also attended.

The next meeting will be next Tuesday evening.

Williamsport Woman Dies Thursday Eve

Mrs. Ida Belle Kendall, 66, died Thursday at 8 p. m. at her home in Williamsport of complications.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Hill funeral home in that village with Rev. W. A. Moore officiating.

Mrs. Kendall was born in Virginia in 1868 a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thatcher. She was twice married, first to William Salts, and second to Milton Kendall, who survives her.

She is survived by three children of her first marriage, Opal Culley and Lawrence Salts, of McArthur, and James of Washington-twp., and one daughter of her second marriage, Daisy Kendall of the home.

ANOTHER RALLY IS PLANNED AT DERBY

An enthusiastic Republican rally was held at New Holland Friday evening with another scheduled in Derby next Monday. Renick W. Doolip will speak at the Derby-twp. gathering.

Other Republican meetings are scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday next week in Five Points, Williamsport and this city, respectively.

KRINN URGES SUPPORT FOR 3-MILL LEVY

Huge Overdraft in School
Treasury Would Result
Without Money

SPEAKS AT ROTARY

Points Out Tax Not New
But Continuation

A plea to the voters of Circleville to support the three mill levy proposal for schools at the November election was made before the Rotary club Thursday noon by T. D. Krinn, deputy county auditor, who thoroughly went into the matter.

"Unless Circleville's voters support the continuation of this levy," Mr. Krinn warned, "it will mean a loss to the schools of $25,225.74 and should they function throughout the year they will have an overdraft of $18,995.16. The enumeration cost for Circleville school district is: operation, $40.26; bonds and interest, $5.05; making a total of $45.31 per child. The average cost in the county is $69.29 showing Circleville $23.98 under the average cost in Pickaway-co. The board of education of this district has certainly done its duty keeping the per capita cost so low."

RECOMMENDS APPROVAL

Mr. Krinn heartily endorsed and recommended the passage of the three mill proposal for continuing the levy for five years.

Circleville has voted on the proposal three times, it carrying in 1920 by 351 votes, in 1924 by 1302 votes and in 1929 by 622 votes.

The levy will not be a new one, Mr. Krinn points out, by a continuation of the one now in force.

Ray S. Sponsler, superintendent of the Walnut-twp. school, gave the Rotarians an interesting address at the same meeting at which time he explained the county school system.

He classed the country schools in the same plane with the city schools, quite a difference from "when our fathers and grandfathers attended," he said.

"The country schools," the speaker continued, "try to think in terms of rural life activities and from this schooling we hope to make life on the farm a little better."

EXPLAINS COURSES

He also explained the different courses taught in the high school in the country and how this program works to the benefit of each community.

COUNTY HUSKING MEET SATURDAY

Pickaway-co. corn huskers will vie Saturday for the right to represent the county in the state contest Nov. 2 on the Carpenter farm near Darbyville. The county contest will be held in conjunction with the Ross-co. match on the Hutton farm near Clarksburg.

William Anderson, state champion, who now has an injured hand, is chairman of the Clarksburg corn husking.

Contests are being held in all counties of the state to determine who shall come here next week. Plans are being made to accommodate between 15,000 and 20,000 persons at the state contest.

PARADE IS NOV. 12

The American Legion's Armistice day parade will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 12, instead of Saturday as previously announced.

Demented Soldier Kills 6 During Wild Rampage

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—Trailing what authorities termed a trail of maniacal homicide, police today found the bodies of two youths believed to have been victims of Rosaire Bilodeau, ex-soldier and former mail carrier accused of running amuck and taking six lives.

The bodies found today in the St. Therese De Beaufort woods were those of Bilodeau's two nephews, Gaston and Fernand Gauvin, whom Bilodeau told police he killed before shooting three of his female relatives to death.

The bodies found today in the St. Therese De Beaufort woods were those of Bilodeau's two nephews, Gaston and Fernand Gauvin, whom Bilodeau told police he killed before shooting three of his female relatives to death.

Authorities searched for Gaston and Fernand Gauvin, nephews of Bilodeau, whom the gun-wielding former soldier told police he shot to death.

Bilodeau ran amuck in the post office, killing Fisset, and wounding J. B. L. Morin, Quebec postmaster, and Moise Jolicoeur, mail clerk.

Overpowered by police, Bilodeau told of driving his two nephews to the woods, returning without them and then taking his sisters and niece for a similar "ride."

Ruth Reported New Washington Manager

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A report scoffed at a month ago when Babe Ruth was mentioned as a possible candidate for the management of the Washington Senators took on a new significance today following the sale of Manager Joe Cronin by the Senators to the Boston Red Sox.

Although no official confirmation or denial was forthcoming at that time baseball writers and those close to the game laughed at the rumors, because Cronin then was preparing to marry Miss Mildred Robertson, adopted daughter of Clark Griffith, chief owner of the Senators.

SON-IN-LAW OF BENTLEYS DIES IN FALL

Pearl B. Barker, 50, Thrown Into Highway as Door of
Automobile Driven By Wife
Flies Open Near Manchester;
Enroute to Augusta, Ky.

Pearl B. Barker, 50, of Lancaster, Pa., son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, N. Scioto-st., was instantly killed Thursday evening when an automobile door flew open and he was thrown to the highway, four miles west of Manchester.

Mr. Barker was the husband of the former Miss Eva Bentley, who was driving her automobile when the fatal accident happened.

The Barkers were enroute to the home of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Robinson, and brother, Alva A. Barker, in Augusta, Ky., when Mrs. Barker started to drive the car past a truck. Mr. and Mrs. Barker intended to come to this city after their visit in Augusta.

The body was taken to Augusta, Ky., where funeral arrangements will be completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watson, and daughter, Laura Jane, of Carroll, Fairfield-co., left today for Augusta to attend the funeral.

Mr. Barker was well known in this city.

NEWARK, Oct. 26.—D. M. Bean, 55, of Cable, O., was dead and his wife was believed dying today as the result of an auto accident near here yesterday when the car in which the couple was riding plunged over a 30-foot embankment.

Mrs. Bean suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

EAST SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 26.—Jesse Robinson, 20, of Dayton, O., was killed, and two other workers in the CCC camp at Richmond, O., were injured today when a truck in which they were riding overturned near here.

Four of the seven CCC youths in the truck escaped injury.

McCRADY WARNS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Officer William McCrady issued warnings in all the city schools to pupils who plan to celebrate Halloween. "There will be no window soaping or paraffining at anytime," McCrady said, "and there will be no Halloweening of any kind until October 31 unless you want to suffer the consequences."

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pontius, Steubenville, announce the birth of a daughter, Thursday, at Berger hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cline Snider, R. F. D. 4, at Berger hospital, Friday morning.

A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, 603 E. Mound-st.

Stoll Case Officials

Government representatives in the trial of Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., and the latter's husband, in the event he is caught, on charges of kidnapping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville, Ky., society woman, are Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, top, who will preside at the hearings, and U. S. District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks, below, who will prosecute the case.

RELIEF OFFICE HITS CHISELERS

Recheck of All Lists Ordered
By Adj. Gen. Henderson;
Includes All Counties.

H. S. Irwin and Miss Clara Southward, county relief director and case supervisor, respectively, had been instructed today by Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, chairman of the state relief commission, to recheck their relief lists to make sure that only those persons who are actually in need are relief clients.

Henderson, in a statement in Columbus, said that county officials are taking personal responsibility for the accuracy of their lists. The recheck will be completed by November 1.

The instructions were made after a plea of Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, to expel all "chiselers" from Ohio's relief lists before the beginning of fall and winter work programs.

It is believed there are very few so-called "chiselers" getting relief in Pickaway-co. because case investigation has been very thorough and complete.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—News of the Trumbull-co. suit seeking to force the state relief commission to pay the electric light bills of indigent families, was met with the statement today that the relief commission would not retract from its previous stand of offering oil lamps and oil to the needy for lighting purposes.

G. J. Kane, staff director at the relief commission, said that no money was available to pay electric light bills. He reiterated the state's offer to furnish oil lamps to William F. Kearney on whose behalf the Trumbull-co. suit was filed.

"We can't make him accept the oil lamps," Kane shrugged, intimating that if Kearney did not wish to accept the old-fashioned method of lighting he could do without any at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pontius, Steubenville, announce the birth of a daughter, Thursday, at Berger hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cline Snider, R. F. D. 4, at Berger hospital, Friday morning.

A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, 603 E. Mound-st.

Forrest Woods Held For Grand Jury Act

Forrest R. Woods, this city, was held over by the Ross-co. grand jury Thursday after a waving examination on charges that he permitted another to wear his chauffeur's badge. Woods' bond is $200.

He was arrested by state highway patrolmen Tuesday after being chased from Waverly. The highway patrolman who made the arrest charges that Woods was intoxicated and that he turned over his chauffeur's badge and license badge to Ismael Wiggins, 17-year-old Ross-co. youth, who drove the truck into Chillicothe.

Woods drives a truck for his father, J. B. Woods, this city. Young Wiggins was arrested and is being held for the Ross-co. juvenile court for intoxication.

BONUS FIGHT NOW CERTAIN IN CONGRESS

Expect Patman to Start
Fight as Soon as New
Congress Meets

TO PASS IN HOUSE?

Senate Held As Hope of
Roosevelt, Aides

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A prolonged congressional battle over payment of the bonus was anticipated by the administration today as a result of the American Legion's demand for legislation.

Conceding that a bonus bill can always pass in the house administration leaders hope to stop the movement in the senate. In the past the senate has decisively rejected cash payment.

As a prelude to the fight the veterans administration announced that cash payment of the adjusted service certificates would cost $2,300,000,000 and $260,000,000 would be lost if interest in loans is cancelled as urged by the legion.

SNUBBED IN BUDGET

President Roosevelt is expected to prepare his annual budget without regard to the demands of the veterans. Rep. Wright Patman (D) of Texas plans to again obtain "No. 1 on a bill for cash payments, so that the fight can be started soon as congress convenes.

A stiffer fight may be faced by the administration this winter. Officials generally admit that the bonus payment sentiment has been increasing. Two months ago legion officials predicted that any attempt to commit the legion on the bonus would fall flat, but they were powerless at the convention.

Within the past month, Senator James Hamilton Lewis (D) of Illinois, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee and a former opponent of the bonus payment, said he would support it and predicted increasing sentiment in the senate for it. Senator Logan (D) of Kentucky, another former bonus opponent, also now favors it. Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada said that he would support payment if the question comes before the senate.

Patman is willing to eliminate the inflation method of payment of the bonus, and call for issuance of government bonds. He plans to propose an amendment giving the president the power to use either the "green back" or bond method of payments.

"SUPPORT PRESIDENT"

Administration officials believe that the fact that most Democratic candidates are making a campaign on a "support the president stand" is their strongest weapon against passage of a bonus bill. Many Republican candidates pledged to work for a balanced budget, also are debarked from supporting it, they say.

NEGRO CONVICTED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—A jury's conviction of murder in the first degree, with no mercy recommended, today hung over William Wright, 39, Chicago negro, for the murder of Mrs. Addie Warlick here on July 1.

The death sentence, made mandatory by Judge's decision, was postponed by Judge Henry L. Scarlett pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

Wright, convicted by the jury after four hours of deliberation last night, was a former player on negro semi-pro baseball and football teams here.

WRIGHT, POLANDO QUIT AIR EVENT

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(Associated Press)—The chances are bad for John Wright, U.S. Navy aviator, and John Polando, today announced that they will quit the air derby from New York to London. Wright was scheduled to start at an Exchange Telegraph Dispatch from Karachi.

The fliers lost two days when arrested upon landing in London.

BEGINS AT 1 O'CLOCK

The luncheon of the Democratic women's club began at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Charles West as the principal speaker. Mrs. J. B. Conley, chairman of the Democratic women's club, will preside.

A broadcasting system will be installed for the meeting so that persons who cannot attend the luncheon will be able to stand outside the hotel and hear Mr. West's address.

Merrell Denies Brown's Charge

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—"It's nothing more than a dream or a phantasm," said State Highway Director O. W. Merrell today, commenting on the statement of Clarence J. Brown in Canton that the Democratic candidate for governor made his peace with Merrell and arranged for him to step out of his present position into one with many times the remuneration of the highway director.

of her car and forced her to drive about a half mile out of town. They then forced her, she asserted, to write a ransom note demanding $30,000 from her father, Dr. R. A. Switzer, a prominent physician. Later they made her deliver this note to her maid. After this, she declared, she was forced to drive to New Orleans, first stopping at Gulfport, where she was made to cash a $10 check.

In New Orleans, she said, her abductors accompanied her to one theatre which they immediately left for another.

MADE GETAWAY
Before entering the second theatre, however, she said, they placed gauze in her mouth and tied about her face and tied her hands. It was in this theatre, she told officers, that she effected her escape by dodging off to the women's rest room.

Earl Roberts, who police described as the girl's sweetheart, declared that he saw Virginia in the afternoon and that she was in her car alone.

Attendants at the theatre say that when she entered the playhouse her hands were not tied and that she entered alone.

Hint Lindbergh Baby Was Slain Sleeping in Crib

Fawcett Takes Step to Examine Records for Hauptmann's Name.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—James M. Fawcett, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, sprung a surprise today when he hinted that records which otherwise might have established an alibi for the sullen Bronx carpenter might have been altered.

He said he planned to seek a court order for a rigid scrutiny of the payroll of the Majestic apartments where Hauptmann is known to have worked.

Somewhat recovered from his astonishment at Joseph M. Furch's repudiation of his earlier story that Hauptmann had worked at the Majestic on the day of the Lindbergh kidnapping, Fawcett expressed the belief that an examination of the payroll might show his client's name had been erased from the list.

A new sensation in the case was the report that the prosecution was prepared to charge that the Lindbergh baby was killed in its crib on the night of March 1, 1932.

Authorities refused to discuss this phase of the case. So far as has been reported no handprints were found on the crib, the kidnap ladder or in the nursery.

Fawcett professed to be unconcerned about this rumor. He was also definitely uninterested in the report that Condon had identified Hauptmann in the Flemington, N. J. jail.

"That doesn't mean anything," Fawcett said. "Hauptmann stated some time ago that he never saw Jafse in his life before his arrest."

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. John Slokum and Mrs. Nora Margur, of Columbus, spent Monday with B. L. Marburger and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Miller and brother-in-law and family, of Columbus, visited friends here Sunday.

Memorial to King Arthur
On the northwest coast of Cornwall, England, the people of Tintagel have erected a stone memorial to King Arthur, mythical warrior of the Sixth century.

Reports persisted that machine gun-armored followers of "Pretty Boy" and his pals were still in the county. There was considerable excitement here also when it was revealed at least two federal operatives were still in East Liverpool.

Coroner E. R. Sturgis late yesterday returned the expected verdict in Floyd's death of justifiable homicide.

OHIO CITY STILL AN ARMED CAMP
LISBON, O., Oct. 26.—Columbiana-co was virtually an armed camp today as police and deputies stood guard against a feared invasion by hoodlum-henchmen of Adam Richetti and the slain Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd.

Repeating rifles in the hands of 10 marksmen covered every approach to the ramshackle prison in which Richetti is incarcerated pending the arrival of Maj. L. M. Means of the Missouri state highway patrol or grand jury action.

Richetti is held on a charge of shooting with intent to kill at Chief of Police John H. Fultz of Wellsville.

Reports persisted that machine gun-armored followers of "Pretty Boy" and his pals were still in the county. There was considerable excitement here also when it was revealed at least two federal operatives were still in East Liverpool.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Turkish tobacco hung in the open air to be cured.

MISS BENNETT HOSTESS AT TEA AND DINNER

Charming in all its appointments was the bridge-tea, Thursday, from 3 to 5 o'clock honoring Miss Peggy Courtright, E. Mound-st., bride-elect of John D. Blosser of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Donald White (Anne Hathaway), a recent bride, at which Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st., was hostess.

Artistically arranged baskets of beautiful white chrysanthemums decorated the rooms where fifty guests were assembled.

Mrs. Lennet Weiden and Miss Katherine May presided at the tea table centered with a bowl of chrysanthemums in pastel shades.

Out-of-town guests at the affair were Mrs. Peter Blosser, Mrs. Fred Aldrich, Mrs. Warren Kampf, Mrs. Don Morris, Mrs. Robert Tomlinson, Miss Kate Davenport, Miss Jane Tomlinson, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mrs. Francis Pope, Mrs. Clarissa, Mrs. Russell Savage, Mrs. Robert Barnhart, Mrs. Charles Mills, Mrs. David Towel, Mrs. Allen Macbeth of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Robert Workman of Columbus.

Miss Courtright and her fiancé were honor guests at a dinner party given by Miss Bennett at 6:30 o'clock at her home last evening. Covers were laid for Miss Carolyn Holmes, Miss Emma and Jane Brown, John Tomlinson, J. W. Blair, John Blosser of Chillicothe, Dan Driskoll of Cleveland, Miss Courtright, Joseph Adkins Jr., Dorothy Courtright and Miss Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Evans, of Philadelphia, Pa., who have been visiting in Columbus and Indianapolis, arrived here Thursday for a visit with Mr. Evans' sister, Mrs. Joe Wilder, E. Mound-st.

MRS. GEORGE GERHARDT HONORED AT DINNER

Miss Jean Fitzpatrick, Elm-ave., entertained with a lovely dinner party at the Burrell Tea room in Kingston, Thursday evening, complimenting Mrs. George Gerhardt (Dorothy Riegel), a recent bride.

Following the three course dinner at 8 o'clock bridge was enjoyed at three tables. High score honors were won by Miss Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Carl Wallace. Mrs. Gerhardt was presented a lovely gift.

A yellow and white color scheme was carried out to the attractive table appointments.

Guests were Misses Pauline and Juanita Hill, Miss Zara Sisley, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Willis Liston, Miss Zelma Hoffman, Mrs. Carl Wallace, Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, Miss Jeannette Bower, Miss Mary Roth and Mrs. Gerhardt.

TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES ENJOY DINNER PARTY

The employees of The Citizens Telephone Co. and The Buckeye Lake Home Telephone Co. of Baltimore, enjoyed a most delightful dinner party at Hanley's Tea room, Thursday evening.

Covers were laid for forty five for the dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

The affair given for the employees marked the end of a vigorous campaign to gain new subscribers. Prizes were awarded Bert Poling, Charles Garner, Mrs. Harold Stout and Miss Mary Howard for obtaining the highest number of new telephones.

The gain of telephones for the local company was 166 and for the Baltimore company 51.

In the absence of the local manager, Earl W. Lutz, who was confined to his home by illness, F. R. Nicholas, secretary of the company, presided.

Their Baby Faces Are Their Fortunes

Success in the move of George F. Temple, Santa Monica, Cal., banker, to win a $1,250 weekly salary for his five-year-old daughter, Shirley Temple, already a movie star, puts little Shirley in the class of the highest paid child performers in the world.

INTERESTING SPEAKER AT BUSINESS CLUB'S MEETING

Miss Gladys Clelland, of Lancaster, gave a splendid talk on her trip through the Yellowstone National Park, at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, Thursday evening, in the club room.

Lawrence Goeller, member of the board of education, also talked, explaining the three mill levy.

This program followed the dinner at 6:30 o'clock enjoyed by twenty one members and eleven guests.

Three out-of-town guests besides the speaker were present Mrs. Joseph Smith, Miss Martha Nothman and Miss Anna Miesse all of Lancaster.

Following the program final arrangements were made for the district meeting to be held Sunday at the Country club.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS CLASS HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Thirty four members and guests enjoyed the jolly Halloween party of the Loyal Daughters class of the United Brethren church, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Charles McAllister, E. Franklin-st.

Mrs. Palmer Wise received the guests at the door. Prizes were awarded adults and children wearing the best costumes.

The following were found winners: Beatrice Canter and Rea Jean Mason, prettiest costume; Mrs. McAllister and Gerald Mason, ugliest costume; Miss Carrie LeMaster and Ruth Noggle, most characteristic.

When masks were removed Mrs. Iley Greeno entertained with a reading, "Mrs. Rastus Johnson at the Wedding."

A short devotional service and business meeting followed. The wonder box was won by Mrs. Stella Mavis.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Stanley Ankrom.

U. B. LADIES' AID MEETS THURSDAY

The October meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Brethren church was held Thursday afternoon in the Community house with forty four members and guests present.

Mrs. William Cady, president, opened the meeting with a song service. Prayer was voiced by Mrs. Dan Klingensmith and scripture was read by Mrs. Charles Richardson.

During the business session plans were made for a turkey supper to be sponsored Nov. 15. A reception, honoring Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Harper, was also discussed and will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, in the Community house, to which the congregation is invited.

A program followed with Mrs. Charles Richardson in charge.

Mrs. Mae Hawkes sang a solo, "My Haven," and a reading, "What Kind of a God," was given by Mrs. Ralph Long. Mrs. Vernon Hawkes entertained with a vocal number, "My Task," and the program concluded with a talk on "Revival of the Church" by Rev. Harper.

Refreshments were served during a social hour by Mrs. John Goff, Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. Orin Baker, Mrs. Fred Zwicker and Mrs. Cora Hampshire.

MARIE HAMILTON ELECTED O. E. S. GRAND CONDUCTRESS

Miss Marie Hamilton, W. High-st., member of Circleville chapter Order of the Eastern Star, was elected grand conductress at the Ohio Grand chapter meeting being held in Cleveland, this week.

The Professor's Lady

THE urge of a scientific age to reduce all sorts of things to formula has assuredly attained the ultimate, we think, in a chart of women's charms prepared by (of all people) a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Where poet and lover and genius and scholar through the ages—and even Fannie Hurst—failed in their efforts to approximate a description of woman's loveliness, our sage of Massachusetts not only describes that pleasant mystery but takes it apart and puts a number beside each catalogued fragment of the whole.

Perhaps the less said about such things the better, and while we shall not say very much about it, here are the salient features:

Twenty points, the highest rating of all for any single attribute, an average weight for height, and age.

Ten points for perfection in each of the following: Skin, feet and health.

Five points for excellence in each of these particulars: Hair, eyes, mouth, teeth, hands, posture, bearing, vision and clothing.

Three points, for harmony of movement.

Two points for good lines and grace, while seated.

Thus our professor's perfect woman, and whether it all adds up to one hundred or not can't make a grant deal of difference. For what lover will gaze into his darling's eyes and with pencil and paper and chart in hand murmur, "My dear you only add up to sixty-two?"

If he does we think he will get what's coming to him, and deserve it, too.

Unfortunately nothing yet has been achieved in the way of making kidnapping unpopular.

The Russians quite possibly will fight Japan some day—if they can figure out a way to get a gas mask on over whiskers.

DEATH SONG

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

CHAPTER XXVIII

The door of the cottage was opened for us by James Ruxton as we ran up on the porch. Beyond him I could see Milton Cross, slumped in a chair. He was staring with horrified fascination at something on the floor.

"I telephoned for you, doctor," Ruxton said. "I was told you were on your way down."

The doctor nodded. He stepped in and swept the room with a quick glance. On the floor behind the telephone stand in the front of the living room lay the sprawled figure of Willis Clendenen. Dr. Calvert walked over and knelt beside the fallen man. He opened his bag and applied his stethoscope to Clendenen's chest. For a minute he listened; then he arose, his face expressionless.

"Will you help me carry him to his room, Mr. Fowler?"

"Is he dead, doctor?" Ruxton asked in a low voice.

"Yes."

A small, strangled cry of dismay escaped Cross. He shrank deeper into his chair as I passed him and lifted Clendenen's feet. Dr. Calvert took the shoulders. The dead man's arms dangled and his body sagged heavily as we carried it into his room and laid it on the bed.

Dr. Calvert walked to the windows and drew the shades, and I was suddenly reminded of my glimpse eight days before of the darkened room of Seifert Vail, with a still body on the bed. The doctor turned on the light and I helped him remove the silk dressing gown from Clendenen's body. He opened the pajama coat and then, turning to me, said, "Thank you, Mr. Fowler."

"Was he killed?" I asked.

"Of course not!" Dr. Calvert answered sharply, angrily. "He had a heart attack."

I went back into the living room. It was still raining hard, but the flashes of lightning were less frequent, and the thundering of the thunder was receding over the mountains. Cross did not even look up as I came in, but Ruxton, his face lined by worried furrows, said to me:

"How did Dr. Calvert hear of it so quickly?"

"I was talking to Clendenen on the telephone when I heard him fall," I answered. "I got the doctor."

"He called Mark and I answered the telephone."

Ruxton was about to speak again when Dr. Calvert came out of Clendenen's room. Cross rose shakily to his feet. He took a step toward the doctor. His hand was shaking and his face was a sickly white.

"I want to get out of here!" he said in a breathless whisper. He spoke rapidly almost incoherently, in an exhausted, terrified voice. "First Vail and then Clendenen! Nobody's safe here. We'll all be killed, I tell you!" He seized the doctor's coat, and his voice rose almost to a scream. "I won't stay here! Not another night!"

The doctor gripped his wrists. He said in a low, brutal voice, "You fool!" He shook the fat little man, and his words and that contemptuous shaking seemed to shock Cross out of his panic.

"Let go of me!" he said indignantly.

Dr. Calvert released his wrists. Cross said angrily, "I'll complain to the management about this!"

"Complain, if you want," the doctor said. "But get it out of your mind that Clendenen's death had any connection with Vail's murder. He died of heart disease."

"I don't care what he died of," Cross said hysterically. "I want to be transferred to another cottage!"

"I'll see that you are today," Calvert answered. "Now you had better go to your room and rest."

"I'll show you you can't put your hands on me!" Cross retorted, but he went into his room and closed the door. The doctor turned to us: "Please don't think I was unnecessarily brutal with him," he said. "It's one of the best treatment for hysteria."

Ruxton nodded. "He's a coward," he said calmly. "However, I can understand his dislike of this cottage. I would be more comfortable out of it, too."

"There are plenty of rooms in the other cottages," Dr. Calvert said dryly. "I'll speak to Mr. Anderson about it as soon as I go to the office."

"Thank you," Ruxton paused and smiled apologetically. "It's true, of course, that Clendenen died of natural causes?"

"Yes. He never took proper care of himself," the doctor turned to me. "By the way, Mr. Fowler, what did he telephone you about?"

"He wanted me to come to see him," I answered. I hesitated and then decided that I might as well tell them what he had said to me, since they would learn it eventually. "He was very excited. He said he had found something important."

"Did he mean something concerning Vail's murder?" Ruxton asked.

"That's what I assumed. He told me the other day that he was investigating the murder."

"He was walking around outside the cottage just before the storm," Ruxton said thoughtfully. "I wonder what he could have found?"

"I suppose we'll never know," I remarked. "He died before he could tell me."

At least that helps to explain his death—over-exertion and excitement," Dr. Calvert said. "It's a pity he didn't have Cross's temperament."

"Over-exertion and excitement?" Ruxton said. "I wonder if that was all."

The doctor and I looked at him in surprise.

"I don't understand," Calvert said.

James Ruxton replied, "I was wondering if he had been attacked or frightened by someone."

"What makes you think that?" I asked.

"Something could have happened, and neither Cross nor I would have known it," he answered. "We had been playing checkers in my room. Cross is afraid of thunder and lightning, and when the storm started he pulled down the curtains and sat with his fingers in his ears. The thunder was so loud that neither of us heard Clendenen fall. Anything could have happened while we were in there."

I remembered what Mark had told me about the melancholia which was one of the effects of Ruxton's disease. He stood looking at us with gloomy, tired eyes. Dr. Calvert said:

"There's no evidence of anything of the sort, Mr. Ruxton. Don't you think you're letting your imagination run away with you?"

"It might not have been an attack," the other man answered stubbornly, "but it's quite possible that some sudden shock killed him. He was sitting facing the window. He may have seen some face that frightened him."

His voice was tense and low, standing there in that gloomy cottage where two men had met violent death, there seemed nothing incredible in his theory. It was fantastic, but so were the three deaths of the last eight days. Unwillingly I found some of his fear communicating itself to me.

The unexpected arrival of Dave Finn was, to me, a welcome interruption. He came stamping in, shaking water from his slicker.

"Good morning," he said. "Where's Clendenen?"

"He's dead," Dr. Calvert replied.

"Dead?" Finn echoed. "Why, he phoned me less than a half hour ago!" An expression of consternation grew on his broad, tanned face. "Say, doc, how—?"

He did not finish his question. Dr. Calvert, reading it as clearly as I did, interrupted:

"He would die before I could see him!" the sheriff said slowly, bitterly. "That's the way everything's been breakin' for me in this case. I might have expected it."

The sheriff looked around the room at the three of us.

"Any of you know what he wanted to tell me?" he asked.

Ruxton answered for all of us. "No," he said.

"He called me up and said he'd found out something important about the murder. He wouldn't say what it was over the phone. He seemed scared," Finn turned to me. "Did he give you any idea what it was?"

I shook my head. "No," I said,

"but from what he said I understood that he had found something—something tangible. He called Mark and when I answered the telephone, he said he wanted me to come down. I've found something very important. I've found something different from finding out something," Finn said. He stood thinking for a minute. "I'll take a look at him," he said. "Where is he?"

"In his room," Dr. Calvert said, pointing to it.

The sheriff went in and remained for a few minutes. It seemed to me that when he came out he looked less despondent.

"I'll take a look at him," he said. "Where is he?"

Facts About The Normal Child

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I HAVE JUST finished reading a newly published book about the normal child. It contains many items interesting to mothers. It is well for all to be reminded of what is important in weighing the welfare of the little visitor.

The average child at birth weighs seven and one-half pounds and measures twenty and one-half inches from head to toe. The infant's stomach only holds one ounce of food to begin with, but its capacity is increased to six ounces in six months.

The first year is probably the most important. During this time the baby undergoes certain changes that influence its future development. It is during this period that the child learns to eat and sleep at regular times, to hold the head up, to stand up, and possibly to walk and talk.

Habit Forming Age
The infant soon learns whether crying will attract the mother's attention. It discovers the use of various articles, such as a spoon, cup, ball and blocks, and soon learns to use these things without help from the parent. During this period the baby also learns to distinguish one person from another and occasionally to recognize certain words.

At the end of four months the baby is round and chubby. As a rule, the baby nearly doubles its weight and has grown from two and one-half to three and one-half inches. The muscles increase in strength. This is evidenced by vigorous kicking and the infant's ability to keep its head up if the body is supported.

After the age of four months the baby continues to grow rapidly in weight and height. By the end of eight months it should weigh between sixteen and nineteen pounds and measure from twenty-five to twenty-seven inches in length. The infant uses its hands more, having learned to pick up objects, as well as make various understandable sounds, such as "ma-ma" and "da-da."

If the baby fails to gain weight and is, not making the necessary progress, it may be due to the lack of mother's milk, or to the fact that the milk is not rich enough. In either case it is imperative that the baby be weaned and a milk formula provided. The doctor will advise just how to prepare the formula required by the baby.

If Child Is "Slow"
The average infant begins to crawl at nine months and to toddle at twelve months. Some children learn to walk at an earlier age than others. As a rule girls learn to walk and talk sooner than boys.

Many mothers are alarmed when a child is slow in walking. Bear in mind that forced walking leads to bowing of the legs. The child should not be made to walk until it has fully developed muscular strength. Do not be discouraged if your baby learns to walk a few weeks later than your neighbor's.

Perhaps the most important thing the baby learns during the first twelve months of its life is the formation of good habits. At birth the baby has no habits. They are formed by doing the same thing over and over again. Habits of regularity in feeding, sleeping and elimination are the baby's first lessons in character building. Early fixing of habits will save all through life.

GAS COMPANY, CHILlicoTHE MAY AGREE ON VALUATIONS

A compromise on the matter of the valuation of local property of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., to save time and money in the final settlement of the rate controversy was voted Wednesday by Chillicothe council at an informal meeting upon the recommendation of C. E. Brown, engineer of Burns & McDonnell.

Valuation of the property is only one of the several factors that figure in rate-making, Brown told councilmen, and for the city and company to do battle before the public utility commission on this item would probably prolong the case eight or nine months and add $4,000 or $5,000 to the costs of litigation.

The amount of money involved in the difference between the city's and the company's valuation estimates is approximately $7,005. The company is willing to split the difference to speed up the case. At the most the compromise wouldn't make more than about 40c difference per year on the bill of an average consumer, Brown declared.

Facts pertaining to the case were first presented to councilmen by Solicitor Phil Butler, who, together with the Burns & McDonnell engineer had conferred with gas company officials Tuesday.

Opposing engineers have agreed upon the company's inventory, Butler said, and are within 13 cent of each other on the matter of pricing.

Brown then explained how 30 test holes had been made in examining the company's distribution system here, and pointing out that the difference in the two valuations was a controversial engineering subject impossible of rule of thumb settlement, recommended a compromise. A motion that his recommendation be granted, passed unanimously on motion of Starr, second of McCoy.

Factors involved in rate-making, in addition to valuation, he pointed out, are the gas rate, operating expenses, taxes plus reasonable return on investment.

He said that he expects to begin his studies of operating costs in the company's accounting department at Columbus in the next day or so.

WESTERVILLE WINS FROM TIGERS, 20-0

Westerville brought a big hard driving football team to town Saturday afternoon and in a rain almost as driving carried off a 20-0 victory. The field was sprinkled Wednesday in an effort to lay the dust. Prior to the game rain started to fall and before the first period was ended the field was a sea of mud.

The soft underfooting did not hinder the Westerville team to a great extent with its backfield men, led by Collier, splitting the Tiger line with ease in the early parts of the game.

The Tigers played the Westerville game on a fair, even basis in the last half although the Franklin-Coffey outfit did rally a touchdown in the third period.

COVER FUMBLE

An exchange of punts started the game with Westerville covering a Circleville fumble on the Red and Black 34 yard line. It did not take long for Collier and Parker to run off the necessary yardage for the former to crash through the line and over the goal from the 12 yard line. Parker's kick was good.

The second touchdown came early in the second period when Parker took the ball to the 20 yard line then crashed over. Failing to handle the ball while trying to kick, Parker ran around end for the extra point.

The third period score came on a 60 yard drive with Westerville tallying four consecutive first downs. Parker scored the touchdown but his try for extra point was no good when he was snatched.

The Tigers put on an offensive in the third period but after passing the field was forced to kick. The game was fighting hard and driving as well as possible through the ankle deep mud.

WATTS, PLUM OUT

Coach Herberholz was able to present almost his full lineup with Joe Bell returning to take the quarterback duties. Bob Watts was not in the lineup and neither was Ned Plum who has an injured arm. John McGinnis was out of uniform because of ineffectiveness.

Next Friday the Tigers play Bexley here in their final league game closing their season a week later at London.

The lineups:
Westerville—20 Circleville—20
McFay LE Griffin
Harrington LT Griffith
Harrington LG Horn
Waston C Osborne
Harrington RG Red Watts
Karg RT Davis
Mitechon RE Grant
Trazier QB Bell
Robertson LH Coleman
Collier RB Mader
Collier FB Speakman

Score by quarters:
Westerville 7 7 6 20
Touchdowns, Parkers 2, Collier.
Goal after touchdown, Parker.
Circleville Subs: Roth for Davis.
Davis for Griffith, Griffith for Davis.

Officials: Boyd of Lancaster, referee; Kolb, Ohio Wesleyan, umpire.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 26. The University of Illinois football squad, led by Coach Bob Zuppke, left today for Ann Arbor for the contest with the Michigan Wolverines tomorrow.

Four afternoons of stiff drill were given the line this week in preparation for the Michigan game. The Illinois squad will take the field in good physical shape, with the exception of Co-Capt. Chuck Bennis, guard. Bennis may play, however.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

MORE PREDICTIONS

No matter how far wrong you are, last week we missed five out of 16 guesses. You continue to try to predict the victor in the nation's leading football games. This week's lineup provides one of the toughest we have ever tackled and it is highly possible that the majority will be wrong.

Here they go.
Ohio over Northwestern.
Army over Yale.
Louisiana State over Vanderbilt.
Tennessee over Duke.
Ohio U. over Marshall.
N. D. over Wisconsin.
Iowa State over Nebraska.
Alabama over Georgia.
Ohio Wesleyan over Wittenberg.
Cincinnati over Georgetown.

BEXLEY CARRIES

Bexley continued in undisputed leadership of the CBL, Thursday, winning a hard-fought 6-2 victory over Delaware. Since Delaware was able to beat the Tigers by only a small margin a good game looms here next Friday in the final home test of the Red and Black. Bexley turned a punt on the one yard line late in the game to crash for the touchdown after Delaware had led through the game by a two point margin gained from a safety. Grandview defeated Marysville in the other league fray.

Bowling News

Container Corporation keggers did some more hilarious bowling Thursday evening on the Circleville Recreation alleys with Power out totalling Maintenance 1947 to 1749, and Papermakers taking the Office quintet 1969 to 1879.

The scores were:
Power: Gall, 306; Buskirk, 407; Elkins, 520; Gentzel, 378; Schnee, 336.

Maintenance: Goodman, 361; Ramey, 421; Morehauser, 458; Quincell, 377; Montgomery, 332.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 26.—Their line greatly weakened by the loss of Capt. Al Kaval, guard, and due to be outweighted 12 pounds per man by Ohio State, Northwestern's Wildcats were to score the usual "day before" signal drill today for a long session of practice on passing formations.

MRS. YAPLE, 39, DIED

Mrs. Virga M. Yaple, 39, died Wednesday at 7:20 p. m. of complications at her home south of Adelphi.

Besides her husband, Benjamin Yaple, she is survived by her father, Jacob Tedrow and seven children.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at Pike Run church with burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Convicted of Attack

John W. Brewer, 38-year-old Denver resident, is under sentence to serve 20 to 30 years in the penitentiary following his conviction in the Denver district court on a statutory charge against a 12-year-old girl who faces motherhood or possible death because of the crime. The court refused to sanction an operation to prevent motherhood for the girl.

CRONIN TO BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Reported sale of Joe Cronin, "boy manager" of the Washington Senators, to the Boston Red Sox was hailed among baseball fans here today as forecasting his probably succeeding Stanley "Bucky" Harris, 28 manager.

Harris came here from the Detroit Tigers under a one year contract. A verbal agreement was reported at the time to the effect that if the rejuvenated Sox in their remodelled plant made a good showing Harris and the Sox management would talk over the question of a new contract for the 1935 season.

DETROIT PRACTICES ON RED BIRD FIELD

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—The Red Bird stadium here, scene of many thrilling American league baseball battles this summer, will be turned over to the Detroit Lions of the National Professional football league this afternoon as the Motor City squad stops off here for a workout for its Sunday game at Portsmouth against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Lions, with many former college stars on its roster of 22 players, were to leave Columbus for Portsmouth early tomorrow after the scrimmage this afternoon. The Lions won their first six starts this season while the Reds have lost just as many.

For many members of the Detroit squad, the trip to Portsmouth will be a homecoming. The Lions formerly were the Portsmouth Spartans. Cincinnati upset the Spartans in the tilt at Portsmouth's municipal stadium last year by a 10 to 7 score.

IGWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 26.—Forty thousand persons, it was estimated today will witness the gridiron contest between Iowa and the unbeaten Minnesota Gophers here.

Although Coach Bernie Bierman's Minnesota eleven rated a heavy favorite the Hawkeye contingent figures that perhaps tomorrow is the day when Oze Simmons, flashy negro halfback, will regain the form he showed against Northwestern.

The Minnesota team arrived at Cedar Rapids this morning.

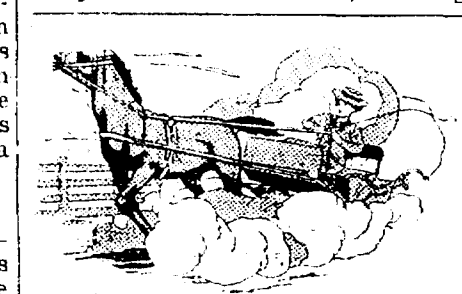

Jackson is Ready For Field Trials

JACKSON, Oct. 26.—Hounds and horses from all parts of the United States will have their days beginning Sunday, Oct. 28, when the forty-first annual field trials of the National Fox Hunters Association gets under way here for a week of dog and horse shows and field work exhibitions.

Although the actual demonstrations will not get under way until Monday morning, the registration of the hounds and the markings for the futurities will begin Sunday with an elaborate celebration. Business men of both Jackson and Wellston are backing the events, which will be held in connection with the Jackson County agricultural and industrial exposition at the Jackson County fair grounds.

A total of 12 trophies, two of them representing national championships in the hunting dog trials, and the purse of $500 for the winner of the fourteenth chase of futurity hounds will be offered in the field trials.

them King Genius, champion saddle stallion of the world, will show at the beginning of the program. The horses will be shown at the fair grounds in Wellston.

The first cast in the fourteenth chase futurity hounds will be made Saturday Monday under the direction of J. M. Colley, from Louisville, Ky. It will be continued Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

In the forty-first national championship all-age event, the first cast will be made Thursday morning and continued on Friday and Saturday.

The bench show of the national foxhunters, feature horse show of the association, will be held at the agricultural exposition buildings in Jackson Thursday evening.

The annual business meeting of the foxhunters association will be held at the Jackson County court house, Jackson, Wednesday evening, with the show closing Saturday evening with entertainment at the agricultural exposition.

NEW SAFETY LEAGUE FOR CITY CHILDREN

Under the banner of Courtesy—Caution—Co-operation, the children between the ages of 6 and 16 are taking the matter of their own and civic safety into their own hands. The Three Cs motto is the underlying principal of the 3-IN-ONE SAFETY LEAGUE being formed here by Barrere & Nickerson to teach children the safe technique of riding bicycles, where and how to roller-skate and general traffic rules.

Co-operating with a national movement for the greater protection of children who ride bicycles and roller-skate, Mr. Nickerson has announced that all children between these ages will be admitted to the League by making application to him. They will be given safety test on the subject of proper bicycle riding and rules of the road and if they qualify will be admitted to the club and given a pin bearing the official emblem together with the book of Safety Suggestions.

WASHINGTON-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

The P. T. A. Carnival was held Friday night, Oct. 19, at the school house.

The usual good time was had by all. The crowd was fine and the number of those taking part in the masquerade was near 100. Dorothy and Garnet Davis won first prize for the prettiest costume in adult class. Miss Rader and Mrs. Huffer won first for best characterization.

In the Junior class Peggy Goeller won first for prettiest and Helen Mast won the first prize for the best characterization. A nice sum was cleared for the P. T. A.

The attendance in grades four and five this week was 100 per cent.

The honor roll for grade four: Bobby Klingensmith, David Bolander, and Hulda Shepherd.

Honor roll for fifth grade: Martha Twaddle, Paul Brobst, and Dorothy Schock.

Sixth grade honor roll: Margaret Goode, and Paul Matz. The Juniors have received their class rings which were bought from the Herft-Jones Co., of Indianapolis.

The boys baseball team won two games during the last week, defeating Stoutsville by a score of 4-2 and then defeating Pickaway on Friday by a score of 7-5. Our baseball record has been good and we are now about ready to start basketball practice.

The following pupils are on the honor roll for the first six weeks term from the third grade:

Fairy Richards, Vance Mounts, Charles McCoy, Neil Matz, Jeane Goode, Audrie Elliott, Raymond Brungs and Dorothy Brobst. Junior Brown entered the third

VETERANS ADOPT 12-POINT PROGRAM

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 26.—The sixteenth annual convention of the American Legion passed into history today after laying down an important 12-point program, featured by a plea for an immediate $2,000,000 cash settlement of the adjusted service (bonus) certificates for 2,500,000 World War veterans.

The Legion adopted a resolution declaring its political neutrality between the two major parties, but sandwiched this in between the demand for cashing the bonus in opposition to President Roosevelt's wishes and a declaration in support of the administration's social development program.

Then, it declared war on Communists, seeking to ban their literature from the mails and their party label from all ballots.

FACES POLITICAL WAR

In spite of its neutrality declaration, the Legion appeared heading toward a political war on congress next winter. It instructed its legislative representatives to seek cash settlement of bonus certificates at their present face value, although Democratic legionnaires fought the proposal as inimical to the Roosevelt administration. It injected itself into national politics too by branding the Roosevelt administration with being "definitely committed to the policy" of spending money "for the purpose of hastening recovery."

The Legion based its plea for cashing the bonus on this "spending policy," declaring cash payments would increase the nation's purchasing power, distribute money uniformly throughout the nation, help veterans in dire distress and "lighten immeasurably" the relief burden of cities, counties and states.

ties and states. It declared the bonus payments would hasten economic recovery.

After clashing with the administration on the bonus issue, the Legion turned around and literally endorsed President Roosevelt's social betterment program. It ordered an immediate inquiry into the benefits of an old age pension law, unemployment insurance and a law to reduce working hours without decreasing wages.

Mr. Roosevelt probably will recommend this legislation to the next congress, as he favored a 30-hour work week in the last session.

The Legion also was on record as demanding enactment by congress of a universal draft law, which would conscript capital, industry, labor and manpower in time of war. It likewise proposed for itself a greater child welfare program.

The war veterans went after Communists and aliens. The convention voted to ask congress to bar Communist literature from the mails and to secure from the states a ban on Communist party emblems on ballots. It demanded registration of aliens and deportment of criminal aliens.

In contrast to its bonus demand, the Legion declared against promiscuous pensions for war veterans. This declaration, incidentally, won a big hand from the veterans.

Mr. Sponsler explained the system of merits and demerits.

Song, "Little Annie Rooney"—Assembly.

In the future chapel programs will be made out two weeks in advance.

Much to the joy of students at Walnut, a new system has gone into effect. It is a system of demerits whereby each student for infraction of regulation will be punished by being assessed so many demerits.

By having less than 33 demerits for each six-weeks the pupil will be exempt from semester tests in studies in which he has an average of "C" or above.

Also in the new system the six weeks tests will be absolute, having instead short tests after each unit or chapter of work.

It is hoped this system will cause a better attitude in class work and therefore higher grades.

Honor Roll and Attendance

Seventeen per cent of the High School is on the Honor Roll. This Honor Roll is comprised of those students making an average of 80 or above.

For individual honors, Hazel Peters tops the list with an average of 85. The Senior Class leads the high school with 32 per cent.

Elma Baker, Jane Brown, Martha Grubb, Wilma Hanover, Bertha Koch, George Littrell, Winona Peters and Elizabeth Reber. The Freshman class makes their initial bow with 18 per cent represented: Adelia Hartley, Grace Hoffman, Helen Hanover, Jacob quell Lewis, Ruth Myers, Hazel Peters, Donald Forquer, Hugh Lamb, George Littrell, and Norman Trapp. The 14 per cent of Juniors are: Mary Noecker, Ruth Beers, Mary Peters and Anne Reber.

Comprising the 7 per cent of the Sophomores are: Dorothy Hoffman, Virginia Peters, and Howard Lewis.

The six-weeks percentage of attendance for the high-school girls is 92 per cent and that for the boys is 91 per cent. There were 44 girls and 32 boys in the high school who had perfect attendance.

School will be closed Oct. 26, for the Central Ohio Teachers' Convention in Columbus.

Letters were sent out this week to parents of first and second grade children concerning results of physical examinations held the second week of school.

CLASS NOTES

At a Sophomore class meeting the class voted to have fifty cents class dues. A committee was appointed to decide on a class outing to be in the form of a picnic, weiner roast, or party. Members of the committee are Lorena Whiting, Howard Lewis and Berman Calvert.

The Juniors have decided to postpone their party because of the F. F. A. Carnival.

The various class officers meet Tuesday to appoint a committee to plan chapel programs. Those appointed are Jane Brown, Arthur Raiser, Anne Reber, George Peters, Virginia Peters, Janetta Huffer, Grace Hoffman, Jacqueline Lewis and Joseph Snelling, arbitrator.

Music—Miss Ruffner (Grade Music)

The first grade and Miss Weaver's room are having rhythm drills.

The second grade pupils are studying scale writing and singing October songs.

In the third grade original four-measure melodies were written by Joe Hedges, Elsie Barr, Harriett Heffner, Edith Strehle and Billy Tomlinson and were sung by the class Wednesday.

The fourth grade pupils learned a new song, "Little Orphan Annie."

The fifth and sixth grades have been practicing a new song, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin and the Fodders in the Shock."

GLEE CLUB

Miss Ruffner is planning to select a girls Sextet and a boys Octet soon.

ATHLETIC NEWS

The girls began soccer practice Monday. This is the first time that soccer has been played at Walnut and the game seems to be gaining favor as each day more girls report to practice.

The boys are still playing baseball. The big game of the week was played Wednesday. The Juniors vs the Seniors with the Juniors on the short end of a 5-1 score.

To date the rating of each team:

	W	L	T	Pct.
Seniors	12	2	2	.849
Juniors	10	3	1	.769
Sophomores	4	10	1	.286
Freshmen	1	12	2	.076

A new plan of basketball for county schools is to be put into effect, which provides that each school must play every other school at least once in two years. A provision in the plan has been made for the location of games so that each school has an equal number of games at home and abroad within the compulsory schedule. The compulsory schedule provides that there be seven dates involved but that any individual school will play on only six of the fixed dates. This extra date, (the seventh) is made necessary because of the fact that there are thirteen high schools which is an odd number, in the county system.

Entrants in the girls basketball tournament in February will be determined by the percentage earned in this six game schedule. The following schools are the ones which Walnut will play this coming season: Scioto, Perry, New Holland, Williamsport, Mulenberg, Pickaway, and Salter Creek. Four of these games are abroad and three are home games.

School was dismissed Friday afternoon the fifth and sixth periods, for interclass baseball.

ENGLISH-FRENCH

Throughout the high school oral and written compositions are stressed. Talks on current events are given and themes are written and read. Each pupil strives to better himself each time.

An effective reading course is being planned. The students are asked to read as many books as possible. This is to create reading interests and form the habit of reading the works of good authors they are following a course outlined in Modern Literature for the reading of contemporary and classical literature.

Almost every week one class period is used for discussion of current news. By this plan more interest is created to look farther than the headlines of the daily newspaper.

The Juniors, who have been studying Shakespeare, are reading his "Macbeth."

The Sophomores have concentrated on the word, its origin and precision in oral and written English. They will now begin a unit of the study of the words in relation to each other in the study of sentence structure.

Senior French students plan to enact some one act plays. This will be a medium to facilitate the spoken language.

The weekly news is compiled by the Senior class.

The Freshman girls have started a new unit which is breakfasts. At first they will study fruits, about their food values and preparation.

The second division has made good progress with their wool dresses. Most of the girls have had second fittings and have started the finishings.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

All four classes in agriculture are busy in electing their projects for the coming year.

Mr. Bowne was absent Wednesday afternoon and evening. He attended District Number Seven, Vocational Agriculture, Teachers' Fall Conference at Ohio State university.
